The House of Representatives have adopted the following report of the Joint Special Committee appointed to report resolutions expressive of the sentiment of the Legislature on the life and character of James G. Blaine :

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S TRIBUTE TO JAMES GILLESPIE
BLAINE.

The Senate and House of Representatives of the state of New Hampshire in General Court convened, for and in behalf of the people we represent, hereby give expression to and order it placed upon the public records of the state, the deep sense of public sorrow at the loss to our common country of that great statesman, that tried, true, and unswerving patriot, James G. Blaine, a giant in intellectual power, the most conspicuous trait of whose character was his grand and superb Americanism, manifested and maintained on all occasions and under all circumstances in his brilliant public career.

In diplomacy and political leadership he was unsurpassed. His great genius, courage, and commanding abilities at the head of the State Department compelled the recognition of our national greatness and power all over the civilized world, the fruits of which are enjoyed in the manifest respect for the American flag and American citizenship on every sea and in every land and clime under the sun. And whether as editor, congressman, speaker, senator, cabinet minister, literateur, or diplomat, his mental grasp seemed almost infinite, while his ready analytical powers and promptness of action in matters of national concern were the wonder and admiration of his fellow-countrymen.

In private life he exemplified the best type of manhood. In his family relations he was the affectionate husband and the kind and generous father, while in society he was the devoted and worthy Christian gentleman.

We join in the universal grief over his departure, and extend to his surviving family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction.

tion : and the Governor is hereby requested to transmit a duly certified engrossed copy of this expression of New Hampshire to the family of the deceased statesman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

JANUARY SESSION, 1893.

The joint committee appointed to wait on His Excellency John B. Smith and inform him of his election as governor and of the organization of the Legislature, beg leave to report that they have attended to that duty, and that His Excellency has informed them that he accepts said office, and that he will meet the Senate and House of Representatives in convention at the earliest convenient time, to take the oath of office and make such communication as he shall deem proper.

JOHN L. SPRING,
For the Committee.

The report was accepted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

The joint committee appointed to notify the councillors elect of their election, beg leave to report that they have attended to their duty, and have notified Hon. True L. Norris, Hon. John C. Ray, Hon. Edward O. Blunt, Hon. Frank N. Parsons, and Hon. Herbert B. Moulton of their election as councillors for the ensuing two years.

MARCELLUS GOULD,
For the Committee.

The report was accepted.

Mr. Page of Haverhill, for the joint committee appointed to wait upon His Excellency Hiram A. Tuttle, the governor, and inform him that the Legislature had assembled, and was ready to receive any communication from him, reported that they had attended to that duty, and he was pleased to say he had no communication to make.

The report was accepted.

The governor, governor-elect, and the honorable council then came in and the Hon. John B. Smith, governor-elect, then took and subscribed the oath of office, and the oaths of allegiance before the president of the Senate, and in the presence of both branches of the Legislature, whereupon the Hon. John McLane, president of the Senate, made proclamation as follows :

John B. Smith, having been duly elected governor of New Hampshire, accepted the office, and taken the oaths prescribed by the constitution, I do therefore declare and proclaim His Excellency John B. Smith governor of the state of New Hampshire, to hold the office, during the period prescribed by the constitution and laws of the state. And I present Your Excellency with a copy of the constitution of the state as a guide in the discharge of your official duties.

His Excellency the Governor then read the following message :

Gentlemen of the Senate and the House of Representatives :

Having been chosen, by vote of the people, governor of the state, and taken the prescribed oath, I now enter upon the duties of the office with a deep sense of my obligation and responsibility, and with humble reliance upon Almighty God for help and guidance in the discharge of those duties. In accordance with a custom honored by my predecessors, I now proceed to address you upon the condition of the state in its various departments, and the condition and needs of its institutions, and shall venture to make such suggestions and recommendations as in my judgment may seem wise and necessary. The year just closed has been one of unexampled prosperity to the people of our state, and to the whole country as well. Abundant harvests have crowned the labor of the husbandman, the various branches of trade and industry have been flourishing and prosperous, labor has been well employed at fair rate of remuneration, and peace and good order have prevailed throughout the state.

FINANCIAL.

We gather from the report of the state treasurer, as to the finances of the state, as follows :

Cash on hand June 1, 1891 . . .	$ 311,819.08
Total receipts during the year . . .	1,879,165.48
	<hr/> $2,190,984.56

DISBURSEMENTS.

Total disbursements during the year	$1,845,765.45
Cash on hand June 1, 1892 . . .	345,219.11
	<hr/> $2,190,984.56
Liabilities June 1, 1891 . . .	$2,579,376.39
Assets June 1, 1891 . . .	319,335.75
	<hr/>

Net indebtedness June 1, 1891	.	.	.	$2,260,040.64
“ “ June 1, 1892	.	.	.	2,151,903.89
Reduction of debt during the year	.	.		$108,136.75

Which reduction indicates the excess of revenue over expenses for the year. A considerable part of the treasurer's report relates to the Benjamin Thompson Trust Fund, including a copy of the will and a schedule of the property devised. It is hoped that this large bequest may answer the worthy purpose of the donor, and prove a benefit to the agricultural interests of the state. The finances of the state seem to be well managed, and evidence of its excellent credit is found in the sale of the recently issued Library bonds, $175,000 in amount, at a premium of 10<sup>00</sup> per cent. while bearing interest at the reasonably low rate of 4 per cent. per annum. The negotiation of temporary loans at certain portions of each year is rendered necessary, in order to anticipate the receipt of the state and corporation taxes, which mainly fall due on October 1st. I recommend such legislation as may give the treasurer for the next two years the necessary authority.

SAVINGS BANKS.

The savings banks of the state show a continued growth and prosperity. The increase in deposits the past year is nearly the average increase for the last ten years, during which time the deposits have almost doubled. Including the savings deposits of the trust companies of the state, the deposits of our savings institutions aggregate nearly seventy-five million dollars. The tax on these deposits for the year 1892 was $730,984.76, of which $652,314.42 was distributed to the towns, and $78,670.34 was carried to the literary fund. Attention is invited to the remarks of the commissioners on the taxation of savings deposits.

The law passed by the last Legislature, restricting the investments of savings banks, has had a year's trial. Under its operation, the amount of western mortgages held by the savings banks has decreased to the extent of $1,785,607.29, while there has been an increase of $2,496,680.39 in the amount of municipal bonds held by these institutions. This law appears to have worked no hardship to the savings banks, and is generally regarded as salutary. As pointed out by the commissioners in their report, there is danger in the indiscriminate purchase of municipal and corporation bonds, which under the law has superseded the previous large purchase of western mortgages. Interest rates have been gradually falling for several years, and the policy of many of the banks in adapting themselves to the changed conditions by reducing their rates of dividends to depositors, is certainly judicious. A 4 per cent. dividend to depositors is all that our savings institutions can afford to pay if they have proper regard for the character and safety of their investments and it is a question, if interest rates continue to decline, or remain where they are, how long the banks can continue to pay a 4 per cent. rate, and return 1 per cent. tax to the state on their deposits.

The recommendation of the commissioners in relation to the reduction of the bonds of treasurers, meets my approval, and I invite careful attention to all the subjects discussed in the report. Taking into account the amount of accumulations of our savings institutions, the benefit they are to the people of the state, on account of the state tax, the bank commission has become one of the most important commissions in the state. All legislation affecting these institutions should be carefully considered by the Legislature, that nothing be done to in any way impair their usefulness.

INSURANCE.

From a report of the insurance commissioner for 1892, it is gratifying to note that the situation is unchanged so far as relates to the condition of fire insurance. The ratio of losses paid to premiums received during the year was 38.95 per cent. The number of authorized fire insurance companies at work in the state on Dec. 31, 1892, was eighty-six. Of this number thirty-three are domestic, town, county, or cash mutuals, and six domestic stock companies. The balance, forty-seven in number, are from other states and countries. The state is thus amply provided for, the rating of the companies being the best.

The withdrawal of the foreign companies in 1885 led to the formation of additional domestic stock companies: three of these, with the New Hampshire Fire which commenced business in 1870, or four in all, are doing a flourishing business, representing an aggregate capital of $1,600,000, gross assets of nearly three and a half millions, and a surplus as to policy-holders of over two millions. Their continued success is alike creditable to the companies and to the state.

The withdrawal of the foreign companies in 1885 and '86, consequent upon the enactment of the so-called valued-policy law, left the property of our citizens at once without adequate protection, and, although prompt efforts were made to supply the defect so far as possible by the organization of new companies within the state, both stock and mutual, yet there was for a long time a feeling of insecurity. But out of these very circumstances and conditions came much of good. Property owners, realizing that they had a large part or, as in some cases, the whole risk to carry themselves, became careful and vigilant, whereas, under the old regime of abundant insurance, they had been disposed to throw too much of the risk and responsibility upon the companies, especially as it was easy to effect insurance upon their property for more than its real value,—the agents often willing to agree to this for the sake of larger commissions, at the same time knowing that their companies would never pay more than a mere indemnity, or such proportion of the real loss as might be named in the policy. This experience of our people under the valued policy law in its beginnings, was a wholesome one, and may in a large degree account for the present very favorable showing of the ratio of losses to premiums. A comparison of the six years immediately preceding 1885, with six years immediately following, or under the valued policy law, is interesting. In the former period the ratio of losses paid to premiums received was 63.6. In the latter case the ratio was 38.4. Certainly the companies coming back find New Hampshire a much more profitable field for their business than when they left it six years ago. An act in relation to returns and statistics of fires, approved Aug. 16, 1889, has, however, assisted materially in the good work. For under this law it is the duty of the engineer or the selectmen of towns to investigate the causes of fires within two days of their occurrence, and make report of their findings to the city or town clerk, who in turn forward transcripts of same in January and July of each year to the insurance commissioner. This undoubtedly serves as a check upon incendiarism. The National Board of Fire Underwriters, in session in May, 1892, in New York, report very favorably as to the wisdom of this measure and recommend the passage of a similar law in all the states. They compliment the 1891 report of the New Hampshire fire insurance commissioner for giving such complete statistics of fires in that state for 1890-1891.

Twelve fidelity and casualty and twenty-one life insurance companies are transacting business in the state, and it is a pleasure to note that all fire, life, and casualty companies cheerfully comply with the requirements founded by law, and that the most harmonious relations exist between the managers and the insurance department.

The Legislature of 1891 enacted a law placing certain corporations, associations, societies, and orders under the jurisdiction of the insurance commissioner. In these would be included certain so-called bond, indemnity, trust, and endowment companies. At the time of the passage of this act, 155 of these associations had been incorporated under the laws of this state. And these, in addition to fifty-six organized under the laws of Massachusetts, and forty-four under the laws of other states, were already at work, or intending to work in New Hampshire. All of these, 255 in number, not being able to comply with the provisions of the law, were refused license by the commissioner and ceased to do business in the state. Of all these, it may be proper to state, very few are now in existence. The commissioner had a plain duty to perform, and he seems to have performed it with fidelity. The object of the law was to protect the interests of the people.

RAILROADS.

The report of the railroad commissioners will give full information in regard to the railroads and the railroad interests of the state. Any legislation pertaining to them should be so shaped as to guard the interests of the people. Railroads, although owned and managed by private corporations, sustain peculiar relations to the public and are in a sense the servants of the people. It is a matter of congratulation that the present status of our railroad systems and the management of their roads is so satisfactory. The people of our state enjoy lower rates of passenger fare than those of any other state similarly situated, and the train service on the whole is excellent. Freight rates are also reasonable in view of the restrictions and limitations imposed by the national inter-state commerce law.

AGRICULTURE.

Although New Hampshire is not particularly an agricultural state, yet its farming interests are very important. Agriculture may well be called the basis and chief source of a nation's prosperity. All other interests are very largely dependent upon it. If this industry is suffered to languish, all other interests will be affected and injured. The board of agriculture is doing an excellent work in the state, the farmers' meetings held under its auspices proving valuable to those who attend. A potent influence in the advancement of our agricultural interests is the grange. This order is in a very flourishing condition in the state. There are 159 subordinate granges in New Hampshire, with a total membership of about 12,000. These will exert a powerful influence in elevating the dignity of this already noblest calling, and in inducing our young men and young women to be content to remain at home upon the farm. In this way, as much as any other, will be solved the question of our abandoned farms.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

It seems proper that I should call your attention to the present condition and wants of our college. The act of April 10, 1891, provided for the removal of the college from Hanover to Durham. All agreements with Dartmouth college have terminated, and all the real estate at Hanover owned by the college has been sold as provided in said act, and there is consequently a complete termination of the work of the college at Hanover. The work of erecting suitable buildings upon the Warner farm at Durham has been commenced, and pushed forward as rapidly as the magnitude of the work and the circumstances surrounding it would permit. Five buildings are now up and substantially completed on the outside, water-works for the supply of the institution have been contracted for, and the steam plant for heating all the buildings has been put in. The work is believed to be thoroughly and economically done. The appropriation made by the last Legislature has been found insufficient to finish and furnish the buildings, and for work on the grounds, in order to put the institution in condition for the admission of students at the beginning of the college year in September next. I therefore recommend such further appropriation for the above purpose as may upon investigation be found necessary.

THE CATTLE COMMISSION.

The Legislature of 1891 created a state board of cattle commissioners. The work of the commission has mainly been directed towards eradicating tuberculosis from the herds of the state, and has been carried on in a systematic and successful manner. This disease was largely introduced into New Hampshire by diseased animals from other states. Quarantine orders were established against Massachusetts in January, 1892. Since this action was taken there has been a large diminution in the number of cases, and there is reason to believe that through the vigorous efforts made the danger will be reduced to a minimum. The liability that contagious diseases in animals may be transmitted to the human family, makes the work of this commission additionally important. Any movement that throws safeguards around the health and life of our people should have the unqualified support of all.

THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The great benefits conferred upon the people through sanitary science have been so abundantly demonstrated that the utility of a well-administered health department is not to be questioned. The state board of health of New Hampshire was created in 1881. Under the impetus given by this board salutary health legislation has been obtained, efficient local boards of health established in many towns, public water-supplies improved, towns sewered, certain diseases restricted, and the public generally educated upon the subject of the prevention and restriction of disease. The state board has exercised a sanitary supervision over our summer resort localities, that has been not only a pecuniary benefit to the state, but has also offered to our summer guests better protection against so-called preventable diseases. In view of the possibility of cholera finding its way into this country the present year, as well as to provide for any emergency of this kind that might at any time threaten our state, it is suggested that additional legislation is advisable, our present quarantine law being local in its character and not taking cognizance of the subject of an inter-state or inter-national quarantine, which under certain conditions it might become necessary to establish. To meet any exigencies of this kind which might arise, it is recommended that such legislation be enacted as will give the state board of health ample powers to establish an efficient quarantine service whenever deemed advisable for the public good. The registration of vital statistics by the board furnishes valuable data concerning the people of the state. In 1889 the state board of health was made also a

STATE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF LUNACY.

The law creating this board was a great step forward in providing remedial treatment for such persons among the pauper insane as the commission believes might be benefited thereby. The percentage of recoveries and improvements was so gratifying that the Legislature of 1891 gave the commission authority to transfer any indigent insane person to the state asylum for remedial treatment. The result of the work justifies the law which has placed New Hampshire in the front rank in the care and treatment of the indigent insane.

STATE LIBRARY.

From the report of the librarian it appears the total accessions to the library the past year number 6,630 volumes, pamphlets, and papers. For the same period 886 volumes and pamphlets were issued. The accessions were mainly by exchange and donations. These constant additions emphasize more and more the need of larger accommodations for this useful department of the state, affording better light and air, and allowing a more convenient and methodical arrangement of the books, and at the same time insuring greater safety to these very valuable treasures of the state. This long-felt need is about to be supplied in the new library building now in process of construction. The Legislature of 1891 passed an act for the erection of a state library building. The sum of $175,000 was appropriated for the purpose and the purchase of suitable land for the same. In accordance with further provisions of the act, the governor and council appointed four commissioners to superintend the work, who, in pursuance of their duties and according to the plans adopted, made a contract for the building. By the terms of the contract it was to be completed in September last. An unfortunate labor disturbance caused a cessation of the work in May last, and since that time no progress has been made. But a recent settlement of these troubles promises a speedy resumption of the work, and a completion of the same in the near future. The building, as planned, seems well adapted to the uses intended. It will be fire-proof, and a source of pride and satisfaction to the people of the state. The plans adopted have been slightly changed, and some enlargement ordered to meet such needs of the state as did not at first appear. Fire-proof safes are to be built for the use of the state treasurer and secretary of state, to relieve their already crowded quarters and better insure the preservation of valuable papers in their several departments. The reports of the librarian and that of the building committee are commended to your careful attention, with the suggestions contained.

EDUCATION.

Popular education and popular liberty are closely related. The free public-school system of our country is not only its glory but its safety. It is gratifying to note that the cause of education in New Hampshire is steadily advancing. The town system, so called, after a fair trial has so commended itself to the people that there is no disposition to return to the old district plan, even if the way were open. Now our schools enjoy not only better teachers on the whole, but longer terms and the advantage that comes from larger numbers, with the consequent enthusiasm and honest rivalry. The able report of the superintendent of this department contains, besides much valuable information, some suggestions and recommendations which I believe are entitled to your very careful consideration. The contemplated retirement from office in the immediate future of the superintendent of public instruction, Hon J. W. Patterson, is a matter of regret to all our people. Appointed to the office in 1881, he has filled it since without interruption. Bringing to the discharge of its duties his characteristic energy and industry, and that ability in the line of educational work for which he had long been conspicuous, he has brought this department up to its present high plane, and made it to such a marked degree useful in the development and advancement of this really chief interest of the state, that to find a worthy successor will be no easy task.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

This school, under the excellent management of its principal and his assistants, seems to be doing a good work for the cause of popular education in the state. The continually increasing efficiency and rising standard of our public schools are attributable in good part to the influence and work of this institution. The graduates of this, as of all normal schools, are in great demand as teachers, and it is to be regretted that more of our young women, and young men too, do not avail themselves of its privileges. The new buildings, which compare favorably with those of other states, while affording greater facilities than the old, also involve more expense. The constantly widening range of studies, and new lines of special instruction and training in our public schools, call for additional expert teachers and new apparatus in the normal school, and consequently, increased outlay and cost. This school is worthy of the fostering care of the state, and any recommendations or suggestions by the principal or trustees are entitled to your careful consideration.

STATE PAPERS.

The work in this department is progressing on the lines designated by the Legislature of 1881. Under the provisions of that act, and the authority given by it and by the governor, the editor has published and prepared for publication the records not heretofore included in the work which are deemed of special importance. Among them is the record of President Cutt and his council, which was the first in our separate existence as a provincial government, beginning with 1679. Also the record of the succeeding executive council, which was recently obtained from the English archives, and not generally known as existing. Also the Journal of the House of Representatives from 1711 to 1722, which is the earliest record of that branch of our provincial government which has been preserved. The other papers included in the publication are limited to that class hitherto practically inaccessible, and to those which for various reasons seem especially important for public use. The utility of the work is beyond question. All our people feel a just pride in the early history of the state.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Whole number of inmates October 1, 1892, . . . . .	93
Boys, . . . . .	80
Girls, . . . . .	13
Whole number during year, . . . . .	132
Since the opening of the institution to the present time
the whole number admitted, . . . . .	1,492

No death during the year and no case of serious illness, showing the good sanitary condition and excellent care on the part of the superintendent and assistants. An air of neatness and good order pervades the establishment. It is a gratification to see these unfortunate waifs, bright looking boys and girls, under such excellent discipline and management, where they may learn lessons of industry and virtue, and be prepared for useful citizenship. Some repairs and changes are necessary in the line of greater convenience and safety. A suitable play-room for winter evenings and stormy weather is needed, which might be secured by enlarging the workshop, adding a story, and utilizing the added room for that purpose. The new addition would be easy of access from the school-room, which is now their only play-room.

The boilers are old, and located directly under the main building. Safety and convenience, as well as economy of fuel, suggest new and improved boilers, set in a building which could be erected for the purpose outside. The whole cost of these contemplated improvements would be about four thousand dollars. I recommend an appropriation of that amount for the purpose.

STATE PRISON.

There are in this institution at the present time 157 prisoners—153 males and 4 females—a considerable increase over last year. The general health at the prison is good. The sanitary conditions are most excellent. The firm discipline for which the New Hampshire state prison has long been noted is still maintained. The report of the warden contains much useful information, and its suggestions are entitled to your careful attention.

ASYLUM FOR THE INSANE.

The New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane has just completed its first half century of usefulness. It was opened to the reception of patients October 28, 1842; 5,943 persons have been received since that time, about equally divided as to sex. In all this time the record shows a gratifying percentage of improvements and recoveries. The present number of inmates is 359. This institution, all of whose affairs appear to be so well managed, reflects credit upon its noble founders and benefactors, while conferring an inestimable boon upon that unfortunate class of our people, the insane. The report of the trustees is very interesting.

TEMPERANCE.

No one question is more interesting to the people of our state than that of temperance. And how to best deal with the liquor traffic is a matter of the gravest importance. It is no exaggeration to say the liquor saloon is the worst foe of our state. It is the recruiting station for the jail and the poorhouse, the prison and the insane asylum; the breeding-place of moral and political corruption. These properly called pests of society, the saloons, are under the ban of our laws. The prohibitory policy has been the policy of our state for nearly forty years. For the thorough enforcement of any law there is needed a strong friendly public sentiment behind it. There has been too much lack of such sentiment in the past, but I firmly believe a public sentiment favorable to temperance and the more thorough enforcement of existing laws relative thereto, is steadily growing in the state. I also believe prohibition to be the best policy for New Hampshire, and any legislation radically changing this policy, or tending to weaken the force and effect of the present law, is to be deprecated.

FISH AND GAME COMMISSION.

The Fish and Game Commission is doing a useful work. There are now in the state seven hatcheries. The distribution of fishes in the waters of the state is annually increasing, until it now assumes large proportions, amounting in 1892 to several million of the various species of trout.

The law for the better protection of deer and moose, passed by the legislature in 1891, coupled with the act authorizing the employment of detectives by the fish and game commissioners, has borne good results, there being a great increase of those animals. The report of this commission contains many valuable suggestions and recommendations.

MILITARY AFFAIRS.

The report of the adjutant-general will give you the needed information as to the condition and needs of the National Guard. This is a very important arm of the state. The recent unfortunate labor disturbances in Pennsylvania and New York have demonstrated the value of the citizen soldier. A well regulated militia is the best defence of the state. Every encouragement should be given to this department, that its efficiency may be increased. Additional inducements to enlistment and service might increase the morale and serve to keep the ranks full, and work beneficent results generally. All the regiments as to companies are at the present time full, but not so the ranks of the companies.

COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

The board of World's fair managers was appointed under the act of April 11, 1891. An appropriation of $25,000 was made to carry out the provisions of the act, ten thousand of which was to be expended in the erection of a state building, if the committee deemed such expenditure advisable. The New Hampshire commissioners voted to erect such a building, which will be completed within the amount designated. It is the belief of the commissioners that the original appropriation will be found too small. It is desirable that the state should be well represented in all its interests and features. There should be an exhibition of its educational facilities, also statistics of its manufactures, with special exhibits of its manufacturing concerns. Its agricultural industries, though small in comparison with other states, should not be overlooked. Our beautiful natural scenery should be illustrated upon a liberal scale. The state should be fittingly represented on an occasion like this by its officials and such others as the wisdom of the Legislature may suggest. These considerations induce me to believe that an additional sum may be necessary, and I recommend such further appropriations as in your wisdom may seem sufficient to enable New Hampshire to make a creditable display at the World's Columbian exposition.

GRAVES OF NEW HAMPSHIRE MEN AT BENNINGTON.

A joint resolution, approved April 11, 1891, authorized the governor and council to ascertain whether the graves of New Hampshire men who fell at Bennington are suitably cared for and in the cemetery at that place, and to inform the general court at its next session what action in their opinion should be taken by the state.

About twenty-six men of Stark's brigade fell in the Battle of Bennington. It is the understanding of the people of that vicinity, who are well informed as to the history and traditions of the battle, that these men were buried in the old Bennington cemetery. There is nothing on the ground, however, to indicate their place of sepulture, or to preserve their names for public reading, in the vicinity of the battle-ground or town. We recommend that the names, at least, be ascertained, and the place where their remains rest be located, if possible, and that a suitable tablet be prepared to commemorate their record, and be placed in a suitable position at the monument or such other public place as may be deemed appropriate. The amount required for this purpose will be about one thousand dollars. This is in accordance with chapter 106 of the Pamphlet Laws, 1891.

PRESERVATION OF THE FORESTS.

This is a subject occupying the thought and attention of our people to a large extent. Its importance is apparent when we consider the great interests affected.

The Legislature of 1889 created a commission to investigate the question and make report to the succeeding Legislature. The Legislature of 1891, to whom this report was made, after referring to it certain House bills, continued the commission, with instructions to further investigate the conditions and wants of the forest regions of the state, and make report to the present Legislature, which report when received I commend to your careful consideration.

HIGHWAYS.

Good roads are a sign of advancing civilization. As communities grow older and richer their roads grow better. The beauties of our scenery, of forest and mountain and lake, are not greater inducements to our transient residents of the summer than good highways. Whether wise or unwise, the building and maintenance of roads have been left to the several towns by the laws of our state, and the towns in turn are divided into highway districts: consequently there is a great lack of uniformity, and the public spirit and enterprise of a town may be fairly gauged by the condition of its highways, although it should be considered that some soils and localities are more favorable for good road-building than others. No better investment can be made by any town than the improvement of its highways. Good roads are a mercy to beasts of draught and burden. They facilitate intercourse and trade, promote health and pleasure as well as profit, and render valuable help to all classes of the people, enhancing the value of real estate in towns and villages. A highway commission, such as has been established in some states, might be valuable in collecting statistics as to the condition of roads in the state, and reporting upon the best methods of improving them. Some towns of the state have lately abolished the district plan and adopted the town system, and, so far as I know, in every case with good results,—better roads at less cost. The National League for Good Roads, in which one of New Hampshire's citizens, ex-Gov. D. H. Goodell, is a vice-president, is doing much to elevate public sentiment on this question by the formation of town and school-district leagues auxiliary, and the dissemination of information upon the subject. This important interest well deserves your careful consideration.

THE BALLOT.

The Legislature of 1891 passed what is commonly called the "Australian Ballot Law," under the title of "An act to regulate elections, enforce the secrecy of the ballot, and provide for the printing and distribution of the ballots at the public expense." It was a radical change in system and method.

It endured the first trial and test of a general election in the biennial state election in November last. In many respects it worked well. It certainly conduced to good order, and so far as the process of balloting was concerned, was free from that friction which even its friends had feared. The peculiar construction of the ballot and arrangement of names of candidates, together with the method of marking, are largely responsible for the great proportion of irregular and defective ballots found to have been cast in all polling-places. It is fair to assume that the great majority of the voters of all parties desire to vote what is commonly called "the straight ticket." The endorsement of a regularly called nominating convention or caucus is to the average voter prima facie evidence of the fitness of candidates. The peculiarities of this ballot, as to its construction and methods of marking, as before noted, are calculated to entrap the honest and even intelligent voter into a miscarriage of his real intent and purpose. The exercise of this great privilege of the suffrage should be rendered as simple as possible, consistent with due regard to that purity which should always attend it, and that secrecy which so many affect to regard as desirable. The large proportion of irregular and defective ballots incident to the peculiarities noted, also occasions much delay in assorting and counting, especially in those towns and wards of cities having large polling lists. If the law were changed in the direction of greater simplicity as to marking, this last objection would be largely remedied. Otherwise it might be necessary to so amend the law as to permit the appointment of assorting and counting officers who could attend to their duties during the process of balloting. A change of the law, however, on the line of greater simplicity of construction and method of marking, would operate to remove to a great extent, not only this latter difficulty but all others. The simplest form of voting, and the most expeditious counting consequent thereto, would still be attended with much confusion, disorder, and delay, in those of our large towns which have grown to the proportions of cities; and their incorporation as such, with suitable division into wards, would, I believe, be hailed with satisfaction and approval by their citizens. The form of government usual under a city charter is found in all respects a most convenient and efficient substitute for the town system where the population has reached certain limits.

LABOR.

The right adjustment of the relations between labor and capital, or, rather, between those who perform manual toil and those who employ and direct it, is indispensable to the peace of society and the prosperity of the people. I may be pardoned if I feel some special interest in this matter, for my whole life has been spent as a wage-worker or as an employer, and I am, as I believe, still controlled by a paramount desire to improve the condition and increase the happiness of that honorable and useful class of our fellow-citizens with whom I labored in my earlier years, and with whom I am now, and always hope to be, inseparably associated. There is no state in which agricultural and manufacturing interests are more evenly divided, more intimately blended, and more reciprocally dependent upon each other than in our own. They prosper or they decline together, and from the nature of our soil, climate, and situation, such must be the case forever. Fortunately the mechanics, operatives, and all wage-workers in our own state have always been among the most orderly, industrious, contented, and therefore prosperous of our fellow-citizens. At the same time I think it might be admitted that, while by no means neglected, the conditions affecting their welfare have received less consideration than ought to be given them by the law-making and the law-administering power.

Agriculture has for many years justly been represented by appropriate committees of the Legislature, specially appointed to protect this great class and vital interest of our people. The board of agriculture has rendered great service in the same direction, and has amply demonstrated the wisdom of its establishment.

I would respectfully recommend the creation of an office or bureau having a like relation to the wage-working classes of our people, or the appointment of a competent person as Commissioner of Labor, with a proper salary and tenure of office, whose duty it shall be to collect facts and to study the social and other conditions of those engaged in manual, and more particularly in manufacturing and mechanical, industries.

The scope of inquiry and investigation should, however, in my judgment, embrace the social and industrial condition of the whole community, and the facts collected should be promptly made public, and laid before the legislature in brief but comprehensive reports. I forbear to make other special recommendations, as the whole subject is submitted to the wisdom of your honorable bodies. In this connection, however, permit me to say that I believe great good might be accomplished by an increased adaptation of the privileges of the College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts to the wants of the girls and young women of the state, who should there find an enlarged opportunity for practical improvement in the arts of household and domestic life. We should educate and develop our sons and daughters with equal care. The family is the foundation of society, and to improve the future wife and mother is the sure way to elevate the home, preserve the state, and increase the happiness of mankind.

CONCLUSION.

As we each, in our several branches of the government, enter upon our work, we should remember that we are the trusted servants of the people. In this service let us be always mindful of the honor of the state and the best interests of the people. It is my opinion that little new legislation is needed at this time. The laws of the state have been recently compiled by an able committee appointed for the purpose. They did their work well. The public statutes of New Hampshire have long been noted as models of brevity and conciseness of statement—free from ambiguity. The present compilation in all these respects is by no means inferior to those of the past. Not forgetting that “haste makes waste,” and advising due care and deliberation in all your acts, I still am of the opinion that this session may be a brief one.

The foregoing estimate of prospective revenue covers all anticipated receipts from January 21 to October 1, 1893.

In estimating probable demands upon the treasury under existing statutes, I have based my figures upon the transactions for the year ending May 31, 1892, and have not included any part of pending appropriations, except such as may be made in favor of the officers and employés of the Senate and House of Representatives.

Stated in the simplest manner, the treasurer will have $352,240.74 with which to pay the Legislature, the current expenses of the state for three full quarters, the semi-annual interest on the entire state debt due July 1, 1893, and miscellaneous appropriations made during the present session.

The deficit must be met by the issue of bonds, for which authority already exists, or by temporary loans in anticipation of taxes payable October 1, 1893, which would require legislation.

Respectfully submitted,

SOLON A. CARTER,

State Treasurer.

On motion of Mr. Eastman of Concord, the statement was laid on the table to be printed.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The Joint Special Committee appointed to report resolutions expressive of the sentiment of the Legislature on the life and character of James G. Blaine, made the following report :

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S TRIBUTE TO JAMES GILLESPIE BLAINE.

The Senate and House of Representatives of the state of New Hampshire in General Court convened, for and in behalf of the people we represent, hereby give expression to, and order it placed upon the public records of the state, the deep sense of public sorrow at the loss to our common country of that great statesman, that tried, true, and unswerving patriot, James G. Blaine, a giant in intellectual power, the most conspicuous trait of whose character was his grand and superb Americanism, manifested and maintained on all occasions and under all circumstances in his brilliant public career.

In diplomacy and political leadership he was unsurpassed. His great genius, courage, and commanding abilities at the head of the state department, compelled the recognition of our national greatness and power all over the civilized world, the fruits of which are enjoyed in the manifest respect for the American flag and American citizenship on every sea and in every land and clime under the sun. And whether as editor, congressman, speaker, senator, cabinet minister, literateur, or diplomat, his mental grasp seemed almost infinite, while his ready analytical powers and promptness of action in matters of national concern were the wonder and admiration of his fellow-countrymen.

In private life he exemplified the best type of manhood. In his family relations he was the affectionate husband and the kind and generous father, while in society he was the devoted and worthy Christian gentleman.

We join the universal grief over his departure, and extend to his surviving family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction. And the Governor is hereby requested to transmit a duly certified engrossed copy of this expression of New Hampshire to the family of the deceased statesman.

The following reports, and the statements accompanying the same, were received from the Committee on Elections :

A.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

The undersigned members of the Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the remonstrance of W. B. Fellows and others, against the right of Jonathan L. Loverin to a seat in this house, and the petition of the same that George H. Wadleigh be authorized to hold a seat as representative from the town of Tilton, and the petition of Charles C. Rogers and others that Jonathan L. Loverin be allowed to retain his seat, report that the committee having considered the same are unable to agree upon a report. The undersigned therefore recommend the passage by the House of the following resolution :

Resolved, That Jonathan L. Loverin is not entitled to a seat in this House, and that George H. Wadleigh is entitled to a seat in this House, as a representative from the town of Tilton.

And the undersigned submit the accompanying statement of the evidence, and of the facts concerning the election in the town of Tilton on the 8th day of November, 1892.

WALTER W. SCOTT.

S. D. QUINT.

N. C. CARTER.

THOMAS E. HUNT.

W. P. WARNER.

A. S. A. GILMAN.

That at the election in the town of Tilton upon the 8th day of November last, the moderator of the meeting made declaration that for representative George H. Wadleigh, the contestant, had 181 votes, and that Loverin, the sitting member, had 181 votes. Previous to this declaration, when in the count the result mentioned had been reached, the representatives of the Republican party, of which the contestant was the candidate, requested a further count and examination of the ballots for representative. This request was denied and the declaration made that no person was elected. The meeting was then adjourned to 10 a. m., November 9. At this meeting the members of the contestant's party declined to go into a ballot for representative, claiming that Wadleigh, the contestant, was elected on the previous day, and should have been so declared. A ballot was, however, had, and the sitting member, receiving substantially all the votes cast, was declared elected.

The contestant bases his claim to a seat upon the first day's ballot. No question was made by either party as to the right of any person who voted at the election, neither was there any dispute as to the material facts; the question simply being what was the result of the first balloting.

It appeared that in the counting of the votes cast on the first day, three ballots, hereinafter described, were, as they were reached, marked "defective" on the back by the moderator, laid aside, and not counted. When the count for representative was completed, the vote stood for Loverin, the sitting member, 180; for Wadleigh, the contestant, 181. The moderator then produced one of the ballots previously marked "defective" by him, hereinafter called No. 1, and by a party vote of the election officers, the moderator drawing a line with a pencil through the word "defective" on the back of the ballot, the same was counted for the sitting member, making a tie. At this point, as above stated, the leader of the contestant's party requested that a further examination of the ballots be made, which was refused, and the result declared as above stated.

The committee examined the ballots produced before them by the secretary of state, and counted the same, and their count agrees precisely with that of the election officers. They find for the contestant 181, and for the sitting member 180 ballots, about the validity and meaning of which there was no question.

Upon the count of the undisputed ballots, as made by the committee and by the election officers as well, Wadleigh received a plurality of the votes cast and was elected. Beside the foregoing ballots there were four ballots cast about which question was made before the committee, as to whether they could be counted at all, and for whom. None of these were marked with a cross in the square opposite the name of either party, the method by which, under the statute, the voter is required to declare his vote; but there were marks upon them in other places from which it was claimed the voter's intention could be ascertained. While the undersigned believe that the only safe rule is to reject all ballots not marked as required by statute, still the decision of the question whether the ballots otherwise marked can properly be counted, is not necessary for the determination of this case; although the difficulties of attempting to gather the voter's intention from marks otherwise placed, are rendered apparent upon a consideration of the disputed ballots in this case.

Whatever may be the true rule, as to whether ballots bearing marks in places other than in the square designated by statute are or are not properly to be counted, the undersigned have no hesitation in holding that the same rule should be applied to all ballots, and that if a mark in a position other than in the prescribed square can be construed as a vote for a Democratic candidate, a mark similarly placed with reference to a Republican candidate should be counted for him. Only by a violation of this rule, the plainness, simplicity, honesty, and fairness of which cannot be disputed, can the declaration made by the moderator be sustained or the contestant's claim that he was lawfully elected at the first ballot refuted. The disputed ballots were as follows:

No. 1, before referred to, had as the only mark upon it a small cross in the space between the name of the sitting member and the name of his party, thus:

JONATHAN L. LOVERIN.	X	DEMOCRAT.
----------------------	---	-----------	--

No. 2 was marked with a cross in a similar position on the line of the name of every Republican candidate on the ticket, except that in some cases the cross was on the name of the candidate, in others on the name of the town or of the party. In the representative vote, the cross was through the letters "gh" of the contestant's name, thus :

GEORGE H. WADLEIGH,	REPUBLICAN.
---------------------	-------------	--

Ballot No. 3 had a double cross between the name of the contestant and the word Republican, thus :

GEORGE H. WADLEIGH, XX	REPUBLICAN.
-----------------------------------	-------------	--

The election officers, to make the tie declared by the moderator, counted ballot No. 1 for the sitting member and did not count ballots Nos. 2 and 3 for either. About this fact there was no dispute. While the committee think the election officers were right in marking all these ballots defective, and in not counting any, as at first, they find that if ballot No. 1 should be counted for the sitting member, then, by the same rule, ballots Nos. 2 and 3 must be counted for the contestant, and the vote would stand—Loverin, 181 ; Wadleigh, 183.

Ballot No. 3, as to the most of the candidates other than representatives, had upright crosses through the names of many candidates, and it was urged before the committee that the voter must have understood that he should express his intention by crossing out the names of all candidates for whom he did not wish to vote.

This ballot had a name written on it at the bottom. The sitting member called a witness who identified the ballot by the name as his, and who was permitted to testify that he was a Democrat. The committee, believing that the ballot once cast could be only interpreted by the marks upon it in the light of all surrounding circumstances, declined to receive his testimony for whom he intended to vote, or as to his understanding of the meaning of the marks upon the ballot.

Even if the claim of the sitting member was correct as to the understanding and intention of the voter in marking crosses upon other names upon the ballot, it is sufficient for this case to say that the voter did not cross out either of the names for representative, and, upon the theory suggested, the voter casting this ballot did not vote at all for representative, and the vote would stand—Loverin, 181; Wadleigh, 182, ballots 1 and 2 being counted.

If, however, the committee are at liberty to disregard the law and construe a cross opposite a candidate's name, which the statute says is a vote for him, into a vote against him, because on the whole the committee think the voter probably intended to vote differently, and may properly count a vote as they think it was intended regardless of how it was actually cast, and should they find, as claimed by the sitting member, that the voter casting No. 3 intended to vote for him, which is not established by the evidence, then ballot No. 4, or "D," as it was called at the hearing, becomes important. This ballot has a cross in the square opposite the name of every Republican candidate except representative; there the cross appears in the square just below Wadleigh's name, opposite the blank space. It is apparent from an inspection of the ballot that the voter intended to vote for Wadleigh, but accidentally placed the mark too low. The undersigned find this vote should not be counted, but find that if any rule can allow ballot No. 3 to be counted for Loverin, the same rule must count No. 4 for Wadleigh. Both upon the undisputed ballots and upon the disputed counting, all by the same rule, Wadleigh, the contestant, received a plurality of the votes cast at the first ballot and was elected; and the subsequent election of the sitting member upon the second day was void. Therefore the undersigned recommend the passage of the accompanying resolution.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

JANUARY SESSION, 1893.

B.

COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS.

In the matter of the petition of George H. Wadleigh of Tilton, for a seat in said House, we the undersigned members of said committee, six in number, and one half of said committee being unable to agree to the conclusions arrived at by the other six members of said committee, beg leave to submit the following report: Upon the whole case we find that at the election held in said Tilton on the eighth day of November last, the said George H. Wadleigh had for representative in all 181 votes, that Jonathan L. Loverin, the sitting member in said House from said town of Tilton, had in all 181 votes, and that the matter as adjudicated by the whole election board and declared by the moderator to wit: that there was no choice for representative from said Tilton on November 8, 1892, is true and well founded upon all the facts and evidence in the case. That at the adjourned meeting held on November 9, 1892, at said Tilton, said Jonathan L. Loverin had a large plurality of all the votes cast; was thereupon duly elected, so declared, and is entitled to a seat in this House.

We therefore report the following resolution:

Resolved, That Jonathan L. Loverin is entitled to a seat in this House.

SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. Eastman of Concord called for the special order, which was the consideration of the following reports and statements received from the Committee on Elections :

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

The undersigned, members of the Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the remonstrance of W. B. Fellows and others against the right of Jonathan L. Loverin to a seat in this House, and the petition of the same that George H. Wadleigh be authorized to hold a seat as representative from the town of Tilton, and the petition of Charles C. Rogers and others that Jonathan L. Loverin be allowed to retain his seat, report that the committee, having considered the same, are unable to agree upon a report; the undersigned therefore recommend the passage by the House of the following resolution :

Resolved, That Jonathan L. Loverin is not entitled to a seat in this House, and that George H. Wadleigh is entitled to a seat in this House, as a representative from the town of Tilton.

And the undersigned submit the accompanying statement of the evidence, and of the facts concerning the election in the town of Tilton, on the 8th day of November, 1892.

WALTER W. SCOTT.

S. D. QUINT.

N. C. CARTER.

THOMAS E. HUNT.

W. P. WARNER.

A. S. A. GILMAN.

That at the election in the town of Tilton, upon the 8th day of November last, the moderator of the meeting made declaration that for representative George H. Wadleigh, the contestant, had 181 votes, and that Loverin, the sitting member, had 181 votes. Previous to this declaration, when in the count the result mentioned had been reached, the representatives of the Republican party, of which the contestant was the candidate, requested a further count and examination of the ballots for representative. This request was denied, and the declaration made that no person was elected. The meeting was then adjourned to 10 a. m., November 9. At this meeting the members of the contestant's party declined to go into a ballot for representative, claiming that Wadleigh, the contestant, was elected on the previous day, and should have been so declared. A ballot was, however, had, and the sitting member, receiving substantially all the votes cast, was declared elected.

The contestant bases his claim to a seat upon the first day's ballot. No question was made by either party as to the right of any person who voted at the election, neither was there any dispute as to the material facts, the question simply being what was the result of the first balloting.

It appeared that in the counting of the votes cast on the first day, three ballots, hereinafter described, were, as they were reached, marked "defective" on the back by the moderator, laid aside, and not counted. When the count for representative was completed, the vote stood for Loverin, the sitting member, 180; for Wadleigh, the contestant, 181. The moderator then produced one of the ballots previously marked "defective" by him, hereinafter called No. 1, and by a party vote of the election officers, the moderator drawing a line with a pencil through the word "defective" on the back of the ballot, the same was counted for the sitting member, making a tie. At this point, as above stated, the leader of the contestant's party requested that a further examination of the ballots be made, which was refused, and the result declared as above stated.

The committee examined the ballots produced before them by the secretary of state, and counted the same, and their count agrees precisely with that of the election officers. They find for the contestant 181, and for the sitting member 180 ballots, about the validity and meaning of which there was no question.

Upon the count of the undisputed ballots, as made by the committee and by the election officers as well, Wadleigh received a plurality of the votes cast, and was elected. Besides the foregoing ballots, there were four ballots cast about which question was made before the committee as to whether they could be counted at all, and for whom. None of these were marked with a cross in the square opposite the name of either party, the method by which, under the statute, the voter is required to declare his vote; but there were marks upon them in other places from which it was claimed the voter's intention could be ascertained. While the undersigned believe that the only safe rule is to reject all ballots not marked as required by statute, still the decision of the question whether ballots otherwise marked can properly be counted is not necessary for the determination of this case; although the difficulties of attempting to gather the voter's intention from marks otherwise placed, are rendered apparent upon a consideration of the disputed ballots in this case.

Whatever may be the true rule as to whether ballots bearing marks in places other than in the square designated by statute are or are not properly to be counted, the undersigned have no hesitation in holding that the same rule should be applied to all ballots, and that if a mark in a position other than in the prescribed square can be construed as a vote for a Democratic candidate, a mark similarly placed with reference to a Republican candidate should be counted for him. Only by a violation of this rule, the plainness, simplicity, honesty, and fairness of which cannot be disputed, can the declaration made by the moderator be sustained, or the contestant's claim that he was lawfully elected at the first ballot refuted. The disputed ballots were as follows:

No. 1, before referred to, had as the only mark upon it a small cross in the space between the name of the sitting member and the name of his party, thus:

JONATHAN L. LOVERIN,	X	DEMOCRAT.
----------------------	---	-----------	--

GEORGE H. WADLEIGH,	REPUBLICAN.
---------------------	-------------	--

Ballot No. 2 had a double cross between the name of the contestant and the word "Republican," thus:

GEORGE H. WADLEIGH, XX	REPUBLICAN.
-----------------------------------	-------------	--

The election officers, to make the tie declared by the moderator, counted ballot No. 1 for the sitting member and did not count ballots Nos. 2 and 3 for either. About this fact there was no dispute. While the committee think the election officers were right in marking all these ballots defective, and in not counting any, as at first, they find that if ballot No. 1 should be counted for the sitting member, then, by the same rule, ballots Nos. 2 and 3 must be counted for the contestant, and the vote would stand.—Loverin, 181; Wadleigh, 183.

Ballot No. 3, as to the most of the candidates other than representative, had upright crosses through the names of many candidates, and it was urged before the committee that the voter must have understood that he should express his intention by crossing out the names of all the candidates for whom he did not wish to vote.

This ballot had a name written on it at the bottom. The sitting member called a witness, who identified the ballot by the name as his, and who was permitted to testify that he was a Democrat. The committee, believing that the ballot once cast could be only interpreted by the marks upon it in the light of all surrounding circumstances, declined to receive his testimony for whom he intended to vote or as to his understanding of the meaning of the marks upon the ballot.

Even if the claim of the sitting member were correct, as to the understanding and intention of the voter in marking crosses upon other names upon the ballot, it is sufficient for this case to say that the voter did not cross out either of the names for representative, and, upon the theory suggested, the voter casting this ballot did not vote at all for representative, and the vote would stand,—Loverin, 181; Wadleigh, 182; ballots 1 and 2 being counted.

If, however, the committee are at liberty to disregard the law and construe a cross opposite a candidate's name, which the statute says is a vote for him, into a vote against him, because on the whole the committee think the voter probably intended to vote differently, and may properly count a vote as they may think it was intended, regardless of how it was actually cast, and should they find, as claimed by the sitting member, that the voter casting No. 3 intended to vote for him, which is not established by the evidence, then ballot No. 4, or "D." as it was called at the hearing, becomes important. This ballot has a cross in the square opposite the name of every Republican candidate except representative; there the cross appears in the square just below Wadleigh's name, opposite the blank space. It is apparent from an inspection of the ballot that the voter intended to vote for Wadleigh, but accidentally placed the mark too low. The undersigned find this vote should not be counted, but find that if any rule can allow ballot No. 3 to be counted for Loverin, the same rule must count No. 4 for Wadleigh. Both upon the undisputed ballots and upon the disputed, counting all by the same rule, Wadleigh, the contestant, received a plurality of the votes cast at the first ballot, and was elected; and the subsequent election of the sitting member upon the second day was void. Therefore the undersigned recommend the passage of the accompanying resolution.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS.

JANUARY SESSION, 1893.

In the matter of the petition of George H. Wadleigh of Tilton for a seat in said House, we, the undersigned members of said committee, six in number and one half of said committee, being unable to agree to the conclusions arrived at by the other six members of said committee, beg leave to submit the following report: Upon the whole case we find that at the election held in said Tilton on the eighth day of November last, the said George H. Wadleigh had for representative in all 181 votes, that Jonathan L. Loverin, the sitting member in said House from said town of Tilton, had in all 181 votes, and that the matter as adjudicated by the whole election board and declared by the moderator to wit,—that there was no choice for representative from said Tilton on November 8, 1892, is true and well founded upon all the facts and evidence in the case; that at the adjourned meeting held on November 9, 1892, at said Tilton said Jonathan L. Loverin had a large plurality of all the votes cast, was thereupon duly elected, so declared, and is entitled to a seat in this House.

We therefore report the following resolution:

Resolved, That Jonathan L. Loverin is entitled to a seat in this House.

T. J. HOWARD.

J. T. GORDON.

JOHN BOWEN.

DANIEL STEVENS.

HARRY A. WHITCHER.

Mr. Howard of Manchester moved that report "B" and the resolution embodied therein be adopted.

Mr. Scott of Dover moved to amend the motion of Mr. Howard of Manchester by substituting report "A" and the resolution embodied therein.

Mr. Everett of Nashua moved that the House adjourn.

The motion was lost.

Further discussion ensued on the motion of Mr. Scott.

Mr. O'Keefe of Portsmouth moved that the House adjourn.

On viva voce vote the motion was lost.

Mr. O'Keefe called for a division.

Mr. Eastman of Concord raised the point of order that no business having been transacted since the previous motion to adjourn, that the motion of Mr. O'Keefe to adjourn was not in order.

The speaker ruled that the point of order was well taken.

Mr. Page of Haverhill having the floor at the time the motion of Mr. O'Keefe was made to adjourn, Mr. Page having suspended for that purpose,

Mr. Eastman of Concord moved the previous question.

The speaker ruled that the motion was not in order, Mr. Page still having the floor, having yielded it to Mr. O'Keefe for the purpose of making his motion to adjourn.

Mr. Eastman appealed from the decision of the chair, and on the question being stated, •

Is the speaker's decision correct?

Demanded the yeas and nays.

The roll-call pending,

Mr. Eastman withdrew his demand for the yeas and nays, and moved that the House adjourn.

The motion prevailed.

The Committee on the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, report that they visited Durham on the twentieth day of January, 1893, and thoroughly inspected the buildings and work done for the establishment of the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts in that town in accordance with the instructions and requirements of the act approved April 10, 1891. The buildings erected are five in number, and all constructed of brick with the exception of the barn, and as a whole appear to be economically and thoroughly built and well adapted to the purposes for which they were designed. A dam has been built across a small stream and water-works constructed, which will furnish an abundant supply for the institution for all ordinary purposes and also for the extinguishment of fire.

A steam plant for heating all the buildings from a central station and for driving machinery, has been put in and is in successful operation in part, and when completed will furnish heat for the whole institution in the most economical and best method now in use.

The committee were satisfied with the amount of work accomplished for the amount of money to be expended. The money in the hands of the trustees of the college will meet all expenses covered by the contract, and no debt has been incurred.

But to put the college in readiness to receive students and to begin its educational work at the beginning of the next college year, about the first of next September, a large amount of work remains to be done in completing portions of the buildings not included in the contract, for gas fixtures, plumbing, and furniture, and for properly grading the ground around the buildings.

The committee are of opinion that this work is indispensable and that sufficient funds should be provided for the same. They, therefore, report the accompanying bill and recommend its passage :

The report was accepted, the bill read a first time, and ordered to a second reading to-morrow forenoon at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Carroll for the Committee on Incorporations, to whom was referred the House bill entitled "An act to establish water-works in the town of Raymond, and to incorporate the Raymond Water-Works Co.," having considered the same, reported the same with the following amendment, and recommended its passage :

Amend by inserting the words "in the town of Raymond," in first clause of section 2, to read as follows: Said town is authorized and empowered to enter upon, take, and appropriate any streams, springs, or ponds in the town of Raymond, etc.

The report was accepted and the amendment adopted and the bill ordered to a third reading.

On motion of Mr. Sulloway of Manchester the rules were suspended, the bill read a third time and passed.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

COUNCIL CHAMBER, February 7, 1893.

To the Honorable Senate and the House of Representatives :

I herewith transmit a communication from Hon. William E. Chandler, U. S. Senator, recommending some immediate action on the part of this state in securing a representation of New Hampshire in the National Statuary hall at Washington.

I recommend the subject and the communication of our senior senator to the favorable attention of the Legislature.

The following communication accompanied the message :

UNITED STATES SENATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 27, 1893.

To His Excellency, Governor John B. Smith :

SIR: It seems to me to be my duty respectfully to urge you to recommend to the Legislature to take action at the present session which shall place in the National Statutory hall, which is the old hall of the House of Representatives in the capitol at Washington, one or both of the statues of New Hampshire citizens, "illustrious for their historic renown or from distinguished civic or military service," for which places are reserved by the act of Congress of July 2, 1864. Every other New England state except Maine is represented by the two statues of its most distinguished sons, and Maine by one such statue. New Hampshire alone has utterly neglected for 28 years to avail itself of the national invitation. This is the more strange because New Hampshire can place in the national capitol with the acclamations of the whole country as one of her statues the figure of a soldier of the Revolution unsurpassed in renown by any of the other heroes of the War for American Independence.

By universal consent in our state the first place among New Hampshire's earlier citizens, illustrious for their historic renown or from distinguished civic or military services, will be assigned to John Stark, the gallant Indian ranger and fighter, the brave soldier of the Revolution, who fought at Bunker Hill, led the van at Trenton, was conspicuous at Princeton, and was the hero of the Battle of Bennington, which was fought August 16, 1777, mainly by New Hampshire troops, who achieved the victory which cut off the retreat of Burgoyne and his army and made possible their capture at Saratoga. He was born in Londonderry, August 28, 1728, became the last surviving general, except one, of the Revolution, and died at Manchester, May 8, 1822, at the great age of 94, the most famous soldier of the Granite state.

With such pre-eminent and conspicuous subject of commemoration as General Stark to place in marble or bronze in the Nation's capitol among the statues of other patriotic Americans, it is not creditable to New Hampshire that there should be any longer delay. The United States senate in a former Congress passed a bill appropriating $50,000 for the erection on behalf of the nation of a statue of General Stark within the borders of New Hampshire: and a similar bill is now upon the calendar of the senate, recommended for passage by the appropriate committee. But how can we expect such a bill to pass both houses when we are not willing to spend one fifth of that sum to place a statue of Stark in the capitol at Washington in response to the invitation of congress. It may well be remembered in this connection that the United States two years ago repaid to New Hampshire $180,000, being our state's proportion of the direct tax collected in 1861. Ten per cent. of that sum would have erected both the statues which we are entitled to place in the National Statuary hall. New Hampshire has not a reputation for penuriousness; but she is justly chargeable with dilatoriness in the performance of an act which should be considered one of her highest privileges and duties.

This communication I cannot close without venturing a further suggestion concerning the second statue to be sent by New Hampshire to the Nation's capitol. I think it should be that of Daniel Webster. New Hampshire can claim this greatest American statesman equally with Massachusetts; and the Bay state has already erected in Statuary hall her two statues, representing her great founder, John Winthrop, and that fervid Revolutionary patriot, Samuel Adams. Therefore, a statue of Mr. Webster cannot be placed in the capitol, in pursuance of the national invitation, except by the state of his birth. Then what state contribution will compare with that of New Hampshire, after she is represented in the gallery by heroic figures of John Stark and Daniel Webster! What an opportunity is presented to us! Shall it be longer disdained or neglected by the sons of the Granite state?

Very respectfully,

WM. E. CHANDLER.

On motion of Mr. Gilmore of Manchester, the message and accompanying communication was referred to the Committee on National Affairs.

Communication from the secretary of state :

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S TRIBUTE TO JAMES GILLESPIE
BLAINE.

The Senate and House of Representatives of the state of New Hampshire, in general court convened, for and in behalf of the people we represent, hereby give expression to, and order it placed upon the public records of the state, the deep sense of public sorrow at the loss to our common country of that great statesman, that tried, true, and unswerving patriot, James G. Blaine, a giant in intellectual power, the most conspicuous trait of whose character was his grand and superb Americanism, manifested and maintained on all occasions and under all circumstances in his brilliant public career.

In diplomacy and political leadership he was unsurpassed. His great genius, courage, and commanding abilities at the head of the state department, compelled the recognition of our national greatness and power all over the civilized world, the fruits of which we enjoy in the manifest respect for the American flag and American citizenship on every sea and in every land and clime under the sun; and whether as editor, congressman, speaker, senator, cabinet minister, literateur, or diplomat, his mental grasp seemed almost infinite, while his ready analytical powers and promptness of action in matters of national concern were the wonder and admiration of his fellow-countrymen.

In private life he exemplified the best type of manhood. In his family relations he was the affectionate husband and the kind and generous father, while in society he was the devoted and worthy Christian gentleman.

We join in the universal grief over his departure, and extend to his surviving family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction.

And the governor is hereby requested to transmit a duly certified and engrossed copy of this expression of New Hampshire to the family of the deceased statesman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Carroll for the Committee on Incorporations, to whom was referred the House bill entitled "An act to incorporate the Northumberland Water Company," having considered the same, reported the same with the following amendment and recommended its passage :

Amend as follows :

Insert in section 3 the words, in the towns of Northumberland and Stark, to read as follows :

SECT. 3. Said corporation may take and hold by purchase, or may take as for public uses, any real estate or easement therein, including the water of any ponds, streams, springs, or artesian wells, in the towns of Northumberland and Stark, etc.

The report was accepted, the amendment adopted, and the bill laid upon the table to be printed.

Mr. Fernald for the Committee on Incorporations, reported a bill entitled "An act to incorporate the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire, Knights of Pythias," and recommended its passage.

The report was accepted and the bill read a first time.

On the question,

Shall the bill be read a second time ?

(Discussion ensued.)

Mr. Eastman of Concord raised the question that the legislation asked for could be accomplished under the general law, and addressed the House on this point. In the course of his remarks he called for information as to the resolution passed by the House, directing the Committee on Incorporations to report adversely on bills asking for charters for incorporations which could be accomplished by the general law.

Mr. Carroll of Warner, chairman of the Committee on Incorporations, addressed the House in reply to the inquiry of Mr. Eastman of Concord, and stated that the resolution had been laid upon the table by the committee, and expressed the opinion that as several similar charters had already been granted by the House, this bill could not consistently be reported adversely.

Mr. Woodbury of Manchester addressed the House in support of the position taken by Mr. Carroll of Warner.

Mr. Nash of Conway addressed the House in support of the position taken by Mr. Eastman of Concord.

On viva voce vote the bill was ordered to a second reading.

Mr. Eastman of Concord called for a division, and a division was had with the following result :

One hundred and sixty-eight gentlemen voted in the affirmative,

Fifty-six gentlemen voted in the negative,

The affirmative prevailed.

The bill was ordered to a second reading to-morrow forenoon at 11 o'clock.

TAKEN FROM THE TABLE.

On motion of Mr. Eastman of Concord, the following entitled bill was taken from the table :

An act to incorporate the Pemigewasset Manufacturing Company.

The pending question being upon the third reading of the bill,

The bill having been ordered to a third reading on a viva voce vote, and a division having been called for by Mr. Eastman of Concord,

Mr. Eastman withdrew his call for a division.

The bill was ordered to a third reading this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Colony for the Committee on Incorporations, reported a bill entitled "An act to authorize the North Walpole fire district to establish water-works," and recommended its passage.

The report was accepted.

On motion of Mr. Carroll of Warner, the bill was recommitted to the Committee on Incorporations.

Mr. Kaley for the Committee on Banks, to whom was referred the House bill entitled "An act requiring every trust company, savings bank, or association doing a commercial business or receiving deposits subject to check, to keep a lawful money reserve," having considered the same, reported the bill in a new draft and recommended its passage.

The report was accepted, the bill in a new draft read a first time, and ordered to a second reading to-morrow forenoon at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Gould for the Committee on Roads, Bridges, and Canals, to whom was referred the House joint resolutions in favor of highways in the following towns of Thornton, Alexandria, Woodstock, Sandwich, Lisbon, Temple, Frankestown, Jackson, Benton, Stewartstown, Franconia, Lincoln, Warren, Pittsburg, Dixville, Millsfield, Errol, Wentworth's, Location, Dummer, Carroll, Randolph, the White Mountains through Crawford Notch, and in favor of an appropriation for Weirs channel and buoys on Lake Winnipiseogee, having considered the same, and made changes and alterations that seemed to them proper, submitted the following joint resolution and recommended its passage :

Joint resolution appropriating eleven thousand five hundred dollars for highways in New Hampshire, for the years of 1893 and 1894.

The following detailed report accompanied the report of the committee :

DETAILED REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON ROADS, BRIDGES, AND CANALS, FOR THE INFORMATION OF THE HOUSE.

Your committee beg leave to submit, for the information of the House, the following detailed report of their decisions :

After due hearing, the joint resolution for the Gulf road in Lisbon, calling for five hundred dollars ($500) for each of the years 1893 and 1894, your committee came unanimously to the conclusion that four hundred dollars ($400) for the year 1893 was sufficient aid for the completion of that road.

After due hearing, the joint resolution for the Salmon Hole Brook Road in Lisbon, calling for seven hundred dollars ($700) annually for the years 1893 and 1894, your committee came unanimously to the conclusion that four hundred ($400) is sufficient aid for this road, and as this highway is to be rebuilt for the use of six-horse coaches and for both pleasure and heavy travel between the important points, Sugar Hill and Salmon Hole, that it is better to pay the whole amount in 1893 than to divide the sum into two payments, in order to give the most effectual aid in rebuilding said road.

The joint resolution for North Woodstock and Breezy Point road was duly considered. This road was built by state aid to the amount of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) and a like amount was raised by the towns of Woodstock and Warren, and by private subscription. It lies in the corners of these towns and is of only occasional use to their inhabitants, but as a highway for the convenience of summer visitors, it is of great importance, connecting as it does the Pemigewasset valley and Franconia Notch with the summit of Mt. Moosilauke and the Baker river valley. In Warren it has an expensive bridge, more than fifty feet above Baker's river, with a span of nearly one hundred feet, and it passes over Mt. Cushman at an altitude of about 2,800 feet.

Agassiz Basin, one of the most important points of interest in the mountains, is on this road near North Woodstock. The road is now fit for buckboards only, and in view of its importance for summer tourists your committee unanimously recommend an appropriation of three hundred dollars ($300) for 1893 and one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for 1894, for that part of the road lying in Warren, somewhat over three miles long, and an appropriation of five hundred dollars ($500) for 1893 and two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) for 1894, for that part of the road lying in Woodstock, somewhat over five miles long. The amount asked for, for the Woodstock end, was one thousand dollars ($1,000), and seven hundred and fifty dollars ($750) is recommended, and six hundred ($600) was asked for, for the Warren end, and four hundred and fifty dollars ($450) is recommended.

The joint resolution for the North and South road in Benton, calling for three hundred dollars ($300) aid, was considered. This is one of the old roads, not much used by the inhabitants of the town but of great value to people in that part of the county wishing to drive to Franconia and Bethlehem, and your committee deem it worthy of the appropriation asked for, viz.: one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for 1893 and one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for 1894.

The Sandwich Notch road is one that has been used for many years. It is about eight miles long and has very few inhabitants living upon it, but it forms an important connection between Sandwich and the Pemigewasset valley, and your committee believe it worthy of aid to the amount of five hundred dollars ($500) for the part lying in Sandwich and of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) for the part lying in Thornton, these amounts to be equally divided between the years 1893 and 1894.

The joint resolution asking for an appropriation of six hundred dollars ($600) for that part of the road leading from the Flume House towards North Woodstock which lies in the town of Lincoln, was considered, and your committee unanimously recommend that four hundred and fifty dollars ($450) be appropriated, dividing it equally between the years 1893 and 1894.

For the Franconia Notch road between the height of land in Franconia and the Flume House, an appropriation of four hundred dollars ($400), for each of the years 1893 and 1894, is unanimously recommended by your committee, this road being used by more people than any other mountain road in the state, taking in the Flume, Pool, Basin, Echo and Profile lakes, and the Old Man of the Mountain.

After hearing the joint resolution asking for an appropriation for repairs of the White Mountain Notch roads, amounting in the aggregate to nine hundred dollars ($900) a year for 1893 and 1894, your committee recommend the following sums in detail to be expended: one hundred and seventy-five dollars ($175) for the road from Fabyan's to Crawford's; three hundred dollars ($300) from Crawford's to the Willey House; two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) from Willey House to Bartlett; one hundred and seventy-five dollars ($175) for the Cherry Mountain road lying in Carroll. This is one of the noted passways through the mountains, and is familiar to the travelling public.

During the considering of the joint resolution for the repair of highways in Pittsburg, asking for three hundred dollars ($300) annually for 1893 and 1894, for the highway leading from the Connecticut Lake House to Camp Chester, an offer was received from Mr. George Van Dyke of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for this road, provided the state appropriate an equal amount. This highway is nine miles long and is a road through the forest that is suitable only for buckboard travel. It is desired to rebuild it for the use of mountain coaches, and your committee are unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Van Dyke's offer be accepted. They therefore recommend that five hundred dollars ($500) be appropriated for each of the years 1893 and 1894, for this road.

In considering the joint resolution asking for an appropriation of three hundred dollars ($300) annually for 1893 and 1894, to repair the Pinkham Notch road, a highway between the Glen House and Jackson, it was learned that the three miles through Pinkham woods need to be greatly widened to secure safe travel by the six-horse coaches necessarily employed to meet the demands of the extensive travel in that region, and the committee unanimously recommend the appropriation applied for in the resolution.

A joint resolution, appropriating money to aid the town of Temple in repairing its mountain roads, was considered by your committee, at which time it appeared that the "Miller Park" road was built two years ago, having an appropriation from the state of three thousand dollars ($3,000). It is now in a condition that requires a further sum of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) annually for the years 1893 and 1894, in order to make it available for the use intended, which is the amount asked for, and your committee recommend its appropriation. The committee were informed that upon the completion of this road, parties out of the state would assist largely in developing this attractive locality.

A joint resolution for the benefit of the road from Bear Rock to Diamond pond in Stewartstown, asking for the sum of five hundred dollars ($500) to aid in constructing this road, was duly considered. This section of the state is rapidly opening up to summer visitors, and particularly to fishermen. Your committee recommend an appropriation of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) for the year 1893, to aid this road from Bear Rock to a point near the camp of Martin B. Noyes, at Diamond pond in Stewartstown.

A joint resolution for the repair and improvement of the highway leading from a point near George Wood's house in Randolph, to the northerly line of Martin's grant, was presented to your committee, at which time evidence was given that the present road is entirely inadequate to the demands that will be hereafter made upon it as a highway between Randolph and the north line of Martin's grant.

This piece of highway is an important link in the road between Randolph station and the Glen House, and should be made safe for mountain coaches. The committee therefore recommend an appropriation of eight hundred dollars ($800) for 1893 to be applied for this road.

In considering the joint resolution asking an appropriation of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) to aid in constructing a road from the house owned by F. A. Prescott in Francestown to the top of Crotchet mountain, your committee learned that the towns in the vicinity of this mountain are developing quite a summer business, that there are fine lakes and ponds in the region, affording excellent facilities for boating and fishing, that over five hundred visitors registered their names in a book on the summit of the mountain last season, and that a road to the top would add greatly to the attractions of the region. The appropriation is asked only on condition that the town of Francestown appropriate a like sum for building the road, and the committee are in favor of granting the request.

Your committee recommend the appropriations called for in the joint resolution for the repair of highways in Coös county as follows: two hundred dollars ($200) for highways in the town of Dixville; one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for highways in the town of Millsfield; two hundred dollars ($200) for highways in the town of Errol lying between Errol Dam and the south line of Wentworth's Location; two hundred dollars ($200) for highways in the town of Errol leading from the old road near the dwelling-house of Lyman H. Grover, down the Androscoggin river, to the east line of Dummer; one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for the highways in the town of Dummer, commencing at the east line of Dummer on the west side of the Androscoggin river, thence down the river to the north line of Milan; seventy-five dollars ($75) for highways in Wentworth's Location.

These roads were built largely by state aid and must be maintained by the state, that region being sparsely populated and the towns being wholly unable to keep up the roads that are needed for the convenience of the travelling public.

The joint resolution in favor of lighting Weirs channel and maintaining buoys on Lake Winnepesaukee was considered, and an appropriation of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) annually, for 1893 and 1894, is unanimously recommended.

The towns of Sandwich, Thornton, Benton, Alexandria, Randolph, Warren, and Woodstock, are very little benefited by the roads to be aided by these appropriations called for, so far as their own convenience in driving is concerned, and it is reasonable that the state should assist them in maintaining these roads which add so much to the general good of New Hampshire. Your committee believe that the state can do nothing which will add so much to its attractiveness, and its power of drawing and holding people who travel, as by giving judicious aid in making and maintaining good roads.

The total amount of appropriations for roads recommended is eleven thousand nine hundred and fifty dollars ($11,950), seven thousand two hundred and twenty-five dollars ($7,225), to be expended in 1893, and four thousand seven hundred and twenty-five dollars ($4,725) to be expended in 1894.

Among those who have appeared before the committee to advocate appropriations for the different roads considered in the foregoing joint resolutions, are Councillor H. B. Moulton, Senators Damon, Seavey, Evans, and Walker, Hon. A. A. Woolson, Hon. George B. Chandler, Judge David Cross, Hon. John M. Hill, Judge W. M. Pitman, Ira A. Chase, Esq., John H. ## PROPOSED AMENDMENTS.

Amend section 1, line 4, by striking out the words, " But upon no other portion of the highway," so that said section shall read as follows :

SECTION 1. Towns are liable for damages happening to any person, his team, or carriage, travelling upon a bridge, culvert, or sluiceway upon any highway, by reason of any obstruction, defect, insufficiency, or want of repair of such bridge, culvert, or sluiceway, which renders it unsuitable for the travel thereon.

Also amend by inserting a new section, numbered section 2, as follows :

SECT. 2. Whenever any highway in any town shall be out of repair, or unsafe for travel, any three citizens or tax-payers in the state may give notice of such insufficiency to one of the selectmen or road agents of the town, or the mayor or street commissioners of cities, and a copy of said notice to the town or city clerk, said notice, duly signed, setting forth in general terms the location of such highway and the nature of such insufficiency. And such town shall immediately thereafter cause to be placed proper danger signals to warn persons by day and night of such insufficiency, and shall within twenty-four hours thereafter commence repairing said highway, and continue such work in good faith and with reasonable dispatch until such highway is put in good and sufficient repair. And the town shall be liable for all accidents that may happen at such place or places subsequent to the time said notice of said deficiency of said highway was given to said town, provided said town has not commenced to repair the same.

Also amend by inserting a new section, numbered section 3, as follows :

SECT. 3. Said citizens or tax-payers, upon refusal of the proper authority to make such repairs, may file with one of the county commissioners for the county in which said highway or bridge is situated, a complaint in writing, setting forth in general terms the location of such highway or bridge, and the nature of the insufficiency complained of, and stating that they have personally examined said highway or bridge, which complaint shall be signed and sworn to by said complainants, and have attached thereto a certificate of such oath. Thereupon, the commissioners receiving said complaint shall forthwith notify one of the selectmen or road agents of said town, or the mayor or street commissioners of cities, and also one or more of the persons filing said complaint, of the time and place when and where said board of commissioners meet for the examination of such highway or bridge, and for hearing upon such complaint. In pursuance of such notice, said commissioners, or a majority of them, shall examine said highway or bridge, and hear all parties interested as to the condition of said highway or bridge, and the repairs necessary to make said highway or bridge safe and convenient for public travel, and the amount required for said repair. And if, after such examination and hearing, said commissioners shall be of the opinion that said highway or bridge is out of repair, or unsafe for travel, they shall determine what repairs, rebuilding, or new constructions are necessary, and shall fix the amount therefor, and they shall make a written report of their finding, which report shall contain a full description of the repairs or constructions by them determined upon, and a statement of the amount required therefor, and shall conclude with an order requiring said town to make such repairs or constructions within such reasonable time as they shall determine upon, which time shall not exceed ten days, unless in the opinion of said commissioners it is impracticable to complete said work in that time. And said commissioners shall forthwith file said report in the office of the county clerk of the county in which said highway or bridge is situated, and deliver a copy of said report to one of the selectmen or road agents of said town, or mayor or street commissioners of such city, and said report shall be final and conclusive as to the necessary repairs and the amount required therefor.

Also amend by inserting a new section, numbered section 4, as follows:

SECT. 4. At the expiration of the time limited for said repairs, it shall be the duty of said commissioners, without further complaint, upon such notice to the town as they may consider reasonable, to ascertain if their order has been complied with by said town, and if they find said town has failed to do the work ordered by them, said commissioners shall forthwith appoint an agent to expend upon said road the amount fixed in their report, taking from him a sufficient bond to secure the faithful performance of his duties, and shall file in the office of said county clerk a certificate stating that their order has not been complied with, and that judgment should be entered up against said town for the amount named in their report, and giving the name of the person appointed as their agent to expend said amount; and said clerk shall thereupon, by order of the court, enter up judgment in favor of such commissioners against said town for the amount named in said report, with costs, and shall issue execution therefor, returnable in thirty days from the date of said judgment, in which execution the officer collecting the same shall be directed to pay the amount of said judgment to the agent appointed by said commissioners, and the costs to the county clerk.

Also amend by changing the numbers of sections 2 and 3 in the original bill to sections 5 and 6.

SECT. 5. Sections 1 and 2 of chapter 76 of the Public Statutes, and any and all other statutes inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed, but this act shall not apply to pending actions.

SECT. 6. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Mr. Scott for the Committee on Elections made the following report :

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the remonstrance of T. D. Little and seventy-one others, against the right of William Dunlap to a seat in this House, and the petition of the same, that Andrew H. Parsons be authorized to hold a seat as representative from the town of Salisbury, report that they have considered the same, and recommend the passage of the following resolution :

Resolved, That William Dunlap is not entitled to a seat in this House, and that Andrew H. Parsons is entitled to a seat in this House, as representative from the town of Salisbury.

W. W. SCOTT,
For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the majority report of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the above petition for a seat in this House, respectfully submit the following report :

At the election in the town of Salisbury, on November 8, 1892, Andrew H. Parsons, the contestant, received ninety-nine votes, and William Dunlap, the sitting member, one hundred votes. To the declaration of the moderator that Mr. Dunlap was elected no objection was made.

The board of election officers in the town of Salisbury consisted of five Republicans and four Democrats, and the contestant was one of the election officers.

On one ballot counted for Mr. Dunlap the x was placed between the name and the political designation, and with one exception, where the vote for one candidate was defective, was a straight Democratic ballot. Every election officer but one who appeared before the committee testified that no objection was made to the counting of this ballot. The contestant himself, who was present at the counting as an election officer, testified that he made no objection himself and heard none.

We are clearly of the opinion that it was the intention of the voter who cast this ballot to vote for Mr. Dunlap, and that the Republican board of election officers were right in so counting it.

A copy of this ballot is annexed to and made a part of this report.

The contestant claimed that three persons who, as it was alleged, voted for Mr. Dunlap, to wit, Edward Wayne, George W. Rayno, and John F. Haskell, were not legal voters in the town of Salisbury.

As the committee were nearly unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Wayne was a legal voter in Salisbury, a recital of the facts in his case is unnecessary.

It appeared that George W. Rayno was born in Salisbury, was twenty-seven years old, had always voted in Salisbury and never elsewhere, and had always paid his taxes there, except that one year he had paid taxes on a horse kept on the first day of April, 1889, in the town of Andover, and that his home had always been at his father's in Salisbury; that some time in April, 1892, he engaged to work for six months on a farm in Andover; that he was married in May, 1892, and while he remained at work in Andover his wife for the most part was at his home in Salisbury, and that after completing his work in Andover, in September, 1892, he returned to Salisbury, where he has ever since resided.

While we entertain no doubt as to the right of Mr. Rayno to vote in Salisbury, we are unable to determine for whom he voted.

In the case of John F. Haskell, it appeared that he had resided in Salisbury since August, 1889, voting in Salisbury at the biennial election in 1890, and at the March election in 1892; that in October, 1892, at the solicitation of an aspirant for the Republican nomination as representative in the town of Warner, his name was without his knowledge put on the check-list in said Warner, and at the request of said aspirant, who was at the time informed by Mr. Haskell that his home was in Salisbury and that he should vote there, said Haskell voted in the Republican caucus in said Warner.

It further appeared that said Haskell did not vote for either Mr. Dunlap or Mr. Parsons.

We are of the opinion that Mr. Haskell was a legal voter in the town of Salisbury.

We further find that three Republicans, to wit, Francis Flanders, Oliver Rayno, Jr., and one Smith, voted in Salisbury, whose right to vote was far more questionable than any of the parties heretofore mentioned, and that in the case of Francis Flanders the illegality of his vote was clearly established.

Said Flanders moved from Salisbury to Webster in February, 1892, and has ever since resided there. On the Saturday or Monday before election, in company with his brother-in-law, at whose house in Webster he resided, he appeared before the supervisors in Webster, stated how long he had lived in Webster, and requested that his name be put upon the check-list, and in accordance with his request his name was added to the list of legal voters in said Webster.

Our conclusion is that Mr. Dunlap was fairly and honestly chosen a representative from the town of Salisbury, and is entitled to retain his seat in this House.

On motion of Mr. Lyford of Concord, the reports were laid on the table and made the special order for to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Morrill for the Committee on Elections made the following report :

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was submitted the remonstrance of Francis T. French and others, against the right of George F. Morrill of East Kingston to a seat in this House, having duly considered the same, and at considerable length, respectfully submit this their report in the following resolution :

Resolved, That Francis T. French is entitled to a seat in this House.

FRANK I. MORRILL,
For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the report of the majority of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the petition of Francis T. French for a seat in this House as representative of the town of East Kingston, having considered the same, respectfully submit the following report :

At the biennial election, held at East Kingston on the 8th day of November last, Francis T. French, the petitioner, received fifty-eight votes for representative, and George F. Morrill, the sitting member, fifty-nine, about which there was no dispute.

It is not disputed that there were sixteen Democratic votes cast where the voter received assistance from the election officers. Of these, twelve were assisted by Joseph G. Nelson, the Democratic clerk, and two by Joseph G. Nelson and William S. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were two marked by Joseph G. Nelson, upon which he also wrote the name of the person voting, to wit, Dana M. Fogg and John W. Nichols.

There were eight Republican votes cast where the voter was assisted by Mr. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were also two straight Democratic ballots in which French was voted for. There were seven votes cast on which there was no vote for representative. Of these, six were straight Democratic ballots, and one Republican. Of the six Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative, two were marked by Mr. Nelson.

One ballot was marked "defective," for register of deeds, representative to the General Court, and moderator, and was not counted by the election officers, and is not included in the fifty-nine votes cast for Mr. Morrill. This ballot was marked for the Democratic candidates throughout, but the voter, in making his cross for register of deeds, placed the cross in the space below the name of the Democratic candidate, and also in the space below the name, of the representative to the General Court, Mr. Morrill. Mr. French's name was printed first on the ticket, as Republican candidate for representative, and Mr. Morrill's name was printed below. On the ballot in question, the cross was made in the square immediately below Mr. Morrill's name and opposite the blank left in the ticket. Otherwise the ballot was a straight Democratic ticket ; and, following the precedent established by the house in the case of Wadleigh v. Lovering, where a ballot containing a cross through "gh" in the name of Wadleigh was counted for him, and where another ballot in which the cross was in the square below Wadleigh's name was counted for him; and following the precedent in the case of Brown of Claremont, who was given a seat upon a ballot on which the mark was made immediately below his name, instead of opposite, the ballot in question should be counted for Mr. Morrill, and would make the number of votes received by him sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. If this vote should not be counted, upon the ground that the House should not go behind the official acts of the election officers, then the acts of the board of supervisors in putting the names of certain voters upon the lists, referred to hereafter, should not be disturbed or questioned.

The ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, upon which he placed the names of the voters, Fogg and Nichols, were objected to by the contestant at the hearing, upon the single ground that the voters did not take the oath before receiving assistance. But it appeared in the evidence, and it was not disputed, that before the voting commenced, an agreement was entered into between the Republican and Democratic election officers, that they would not require voters to take the oath because, as they said, they knew who would be unable to mark his ballot, and they would therefore dispense with the formalities of an oath. Under this agreement Fogg and Nichols were allowed to vote without objection, and one or two other Democratic voters, but it appeared that as many, if not more, Republicans voted in the same way, so that there can be no just ground of complaint on either side. There was no dispute that both Fogg and Nichols required assistance, and had a right to receive it.

The only further objection made by the contestant was as to the right of A. Herbert Tilton, Frank W. Lee, and Fred Lord, to vote in East Kingston.

It appeared in the case of Mr. Lee, that he owned a place in East Kingston, which he bought over four years ago, and which he still owns; that he voted at the next election; that he lived upon the place nearly two years, working in Haverhill in the shoe-shop; that he moved his wife and little child to Milton

Three-Ponds about a year and a half ago, for the purpose of putting his boy in the Nute high school; that he did so without intending or expecting to abandon East Kingston, but intending to return in the following September; that he did return during that month, and made repairs upon his house, preparatory to moving into it; that he never voted elsewhere; is about to return to East Kingston with his family; that his absence was strictly temporary and for the purpose stated; that he appeared before the board of supervisors on Monday and made oath to the foregoing facts, and that no one objected to his right to vote until after this contest was made. There was no evidence before the committee as to how Mr. Lee voted, and, so far as can be determined, one of the Democratic ballots upon which there was no vote for representative, may have been Mr. Lee's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the two Democratic ballots for French.

In the case of Mr. Lord, it appeared that he was married in East Kingston about eight years ago, to a young woman who lived there; that he is a man of dissolute habits, and was not liked by his wife's parents; that he voted in East Kingston from the time when he came and resided there, nearly eight years ago, until the last election, except at the last March meeting, when his name was left off because he was undergoing a sentence in the state prison. After his return in April, he went to work in East Kingston, and visited his wife every day or every few days at their home; that she did his washing and mended his clothing from that time on until now; that he came there every Sunday and changed his clothes, did something to support his wife and child, had meals there occasionally and remained over night. He claimed that was his home, and was never denied access to it by the owner of the house, the grandfather of his wife, who testified to the foregoing facts.

While Mr. Lord received assistance in marking his ballot, there is no evidence but what one of the two ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, on which there was no mark for representative, may have been cast by Mr. Lord. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that his vote was cast for Mr. Morrill.

It was objected that he was not sworn before voting. But, against the evidence of those who said they did not see him sworn, was the positive oath of the moderator and ballot clerk, that he did take the oath.

It also appeared in evidence that the night before election Mr. Lord went to the Republican headquarters, where the contestant and twelve others were in session, at half past ten o'clock, and stated that some one had agreed to get his name upon the check-list and that it had not been done. The contestant, Mr. French, also testified that on election day he met Mr. Lord alone, out of doors, back of the town hall, and that he asked him if he was not going to vote for him; that Lord replied that he thought he ought to but that he could not; that French replied he thought he ought to because he took him in to work when he came back from the state prison; that when he saw him go in to cast his vote he made up his mind he was a "goner," and that if he had voted for him (French) he "should have been willing to have had him do so."

Your committee regards it as a somewhat remarkable proposition for a contestant to ask that the sitting member be deprived of his seat, because an illegal vote was alleged to have been cast for him, when the contestant himself was seeking to have the same illegal vote cast for him, and would have regarded it as a legitimate transaction. And we cannot assent to the logic which would regard Mr. Lord as a legal voter up to the time when Mr. French sought his vote, and an illegal voter after he discovered he was a "goner."

In the case of Mr. Tilton, it appeared that he was born in East Kingston, has voted there at every election since he became twenty-one, to wit, sixteen years, that he never has moved from there; that four years ago he bought a livery stable in Exeter, which he kept for about eight months, in the meantime boarding in Exeter, with his wife and child, whom he took there to put into school; that after disposing of his livery, he purchased the furniture of a hotel and took a lease of it for his brother-in-law; that afterwards he was compelled to take it off his hands and finally dispose of it; that he left his entire household goods and his house completely furnished at East Kingston; that he moved nothing except a piano; that during the summer seasons, he with his family and friends occupied the house at East Kingston; that he had no purpose whatever of giving up his residence at East Kingston, and never in fact moved from there; that his name was on the posted list; that no objection was made to it before the board of supervisors, or in fact to any name that was put upon the list, and that his right to vote in East Kingston was beyond any sort of doubt or question.

There was no evidence as to how Mr. Tilton voted. So far as the committee can say, one of the four Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative may have been Mr. Tilton's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that he voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the Democratic ballots for Mr. French.

If Mr. Lord had not the right to vote for Mr. Morrill, but would have had the right to vote for Mr. French, then the state of the vote would be fifty-nine for Mr. Morrill, and fifty-eight for Mr. French, provided he did vote for Mr. Morrill, of which there was no evidence; and if he and Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, of which there is no evidence, and had not a right to vote, then the state of the vote would be fifty-eight for Mr. French, and fifty-eight for Mr. Morrill.

The undersigned, however, find that the votes of Mr. Lee and Mr. Lord and Mr. Tilton were legal and legally cast, and that upon the hypothesis that they all voted for Mr. Morrill, his vote was sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. Assuming that the votes of Mr. Lee, Mr. Lord, and Mr. Tilton were not legal, and in the absence of evidence that the blank Democratic ballots were not cast by them, or the two Democratic ballots for French were not cast by Lee and Tilton, and that they did in fact vote for Mr. Morrill, your committee are unable to see any possible ground upon which the right of the sitting member to a seat in this House can be contested. None of the votes above referred to were challenged or objected to, nor was any objection made to the declaration of the election of Mr. Morrill by any one when the votes were counted, Mr. French being present.

Upon the vote for moderator, there was a majority of twelve for the Democratic candidate, and the Democratic ticket was generally successful by about ten majority, and upon the whole case, and upon all the evidence presented, your committee respectfully report that the petition of the said Francis T. French should be denied, and that the sitting member, George F. Morrill, be declared to be rightfully entitled to his seat in this House.

AFTERNOON.

The House met at 3 o'clock.

(The speaker in the chair.)

SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. Lyford of Concord called for the first special order of the afternoon, which was the consideration of the following reports of the Committee on Elections :

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the remonstrance of T. D. Little and seventy-one others, against the right of William Dunlap to a seat in this House, and the petition of the same that Andrew H. Parsons be authorized to hold a seat as representative from the town of Salisbury, report that they have considered the same, and recommend the passage of the following resolution :

Resolved, That William Dunlap is not entitled to a seat in this House, and that Andrew H. Parsons is entitled to a seat in this House, as a representative from the town of Salisbury.

W. W. SCOTT,

For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the majority report of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the petition for a seat in this House, respectfully submit the following report :

At the election in the town of Salisbury, on November 8, 1892, Andrew H. Parsons, the contestant, received ninety-nine votes, and William Dunlap, the sitting member, one hundred votes. To the declaration of the moderator that Mr. Dunlap was elected, no objection was made.

The board of election officers in the town of Salisbury consisted of five Republicans and four Democrats, and the contestant was one of the election officers.

On one ballot counted for Mr. Dunlap the x was placed between the name and the political designation, and with one exception, where the vote for one candidate was defective, was a straight Democratic ballot. Every election officer but one who appeared before the committee testified that no objection was made to the counting of this ballot. The contestant himself, who was present at the counting as an election officer, testified that he made no objection himself and heard none.

We are clearly of the opinion that it was the intention of the voter who cast this ballot to vote for Mr. Dunlap, and that the Republican board of election officers were right in so counting it.

A copy of this ballot is annexed to and made a part of this report.

The contestant claimed that three persons, who, as it was alleged, voted for Mr. Dunlap, to wit, Edward Wayne, George W. Rayno, and John F. Haskell, were not legal voters in the town of Salisbury.

As the committee were nearly unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Wayne was a legal voter in Salisbury, a recital of the facts in his case is unnecessary.

It appeared that George W. Rayno was born in Salisbury, was twenty-seven years old, had always voted in Salisbury and never elsewhere, and had always paid his taxes there, except that one year he had paid taxes on a horse kept on the first day of April, 1889, in the town of Andover, and that his home had always been at his father's in Salisbury; that some time in April, 1892, he engaged to work for six months on a farm in Andover; that he was married in May, 1892, and while he remained at work in Andover his wife for the most part was at his home in Salisbury, and that after completing his work in Andover, in September, 1892, he returned to Salisbury, where he has ever since resided.

While we entertain no doubt as to the right of Mr. Rayno to vote in Salisbury, we are unable to determine for whom he voted.

In the case of John F. Haskell, it appeared that he had resided in Salisbury since August, 1889, voting in Salisbury at the biennial election in 1890, and at the March election in 1892; that in October, 1892, at the solicitation of an aspirant for the Republican nomination as representative in the town of Warner, his name was, without his knowledge, put on the check-list in said Warner, and at the request of said aspirant, who was at the time informed by Mr. Haskell that his home was in Salisbury and that he should vote there, said Haskell voted in the Republican caucus in said Warner.

It further appeared that said Haskell did not vote for either Mr. Dunlap or Mr. Parsons.

We are of the opinion that Mr. Haskell was a legal voter in the town of Salisbury.

We further find that three Republicans, to wit, Francis Flanders, Oliver Rayno, Jr., and one Smith, voted in Salisbury, whose right to vote was far more questionable than any of the parties heretofore mentioned, and that in the case of Francis Flanders the illegality of his vote was clearly established.

Said Flanders moved from Salisbury to Webster in February, 1892, and has ever since resided there. On the Saturday or Monday before election, in company with his brother-in-law, at whose house in Webster he resided, he appeared before the supervisors in Webster, stated how long he had lived in Webster, and requested that his name be put upon the check-list, and in accordance with his request his name was added to the list of legal voters in Webster.

Our conclusion is that Mr. Dunlap was fairly and honestly chosen a representative from the town of Salisbury, and is entitled to retain his seat in this House.

Leave of absence was granted to Mr. Ricker of New Durham for the remainder of the week, on account of town business.

THIRD READING.

The following entitled bill was read a third time and passed :

An act to incorporate the Bartlett Electric Light and Power Company.

SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. Lyford of Concord called for the special order, which was the consideration of the following reports of the Committee on Elections :

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was submitted the remonstrance of Francis T. French and others, against the right of George F. Morrill of East Kingston to a seat in this House, having duly considered the same, and at considerable length, respectfully submit this their report in the following resolution :

Resolved, That Francis T. French is entitled to a seat in this House.

FRANK I. MORRILL,

For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the report of the majority of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the petition of Francis T. French for a seat in this House, as representative of the town of East Kingston, having considered the same, respectfully submit the following report :

At the biennial election, held at East Kingston on the 8th day of November last, Francis T. French, the petitioner, received fifty-eight votes for representative, and George F. Morrill, the sitting member, fifty-nine, about which there was no dispute.

It is not disputed that there were sixteen Democratic votes cast where the voter received assistance from the election officers. Of these, twelve were assisted by Joseph G. Nelson, the Democratic clerk, and two by Joseph G. Nelson and William S. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were two marked by Joseph G. Nelson, upon which he also wrote the name of the person voting, to wit, Dana M. Fogg and John W. Nichols.

There were eight Republican votes cast where the voter was assisted by Mr. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were also two straight Democratic ballots in which French was voted for. There were seven votes cast on which there was no vote for representative. Of these, six were straight Democratic ballots, and one Republican. Of the six Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative, two were marked by Mr. Nelson.

One ballot was marked "defective," for register of deeds, representatives to the General Court, and moderator, and was not counted by the election officers, and is not included in the fifty-nine votes cast for Mr. Morrill. This ballot was marked for the Democratic candidates throughout, but the voter, in making his cross for register of deeds, placed the cross in the space below the name of the Democratic candidate, and also in the space below the name of the representative to the General Court, Mr. Morrill. Mr. French's name was printed first on the ticket, as Republican candidate for representative, and Mr. Morrill's name was printed below. On the ballot in question, the cross was made in the square immediately below Mr. Morrill's name and opposite the blank left in the ticket. Otherwise the ballot was a straight Democratic ticket ; and, following the precedent established by the House in the case of Wadleigh v. Lovering, where a ballot containing a cross through "gh" in the name of Wadleigh was counted for him, and where another ballot in which the cross was in the square below Wadleigh's name was counted for him; and following the precedent in the case of Brown of Claremont, who was given a seat upon a ballot on which the mark was made immediately below his name, instead of opposite, the ballot in question should be counted for Mr. Morrill, and would make the number of votes received by him sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. If this vote should not be counted, upon the ground that the House should not go behind the official acts of the election officers, then the acts of the board of supervisors in putting the names of certain voters upon the lists, referred to hereafter, should not be disturbed or questioned.

The ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, upon which he placed the names of the voters, Fogg and Nichols, were objected to by the contestant at the hearing, upon the single ground that the voters did not take the oath before receiving assistance. But it appeared in the evidence, and it was not disputed, that before the voting commenced, an agreement was entered into between the Republican and Democratic election officers, that they would not require voters to take the oath because, as they said, they knew who would be unable to mark his ballot, and they would therefore dispense with the formalities of an oath. Under this agreement, Fogg and Nichols were allowed to vote without objection, and one or two other Democratic voters, but it appeared that as many, if not more, Republicans voted in the same way; so that there can be no just ground of complaint on either side. There was no dispute that both Fogg and Nichols required assistance, and had a right to receive it.

The only further objection made by the contestant was as to the right of A. Herbert Tilton, Frank W. Lee, and Fred Lord, to vote in East Kingston.

It appeared in the case of Mr. Lee, that he owned a place in East Kingston, which he bought over four years ago, and which he still owns; that he voted at the next election; that he lived upon the place nearly two years, working in Haverhill in the shoe-shop; that he moved his wife and little child to Milton Three-Ponds about a year and a half ago, for the purpose of putting his boy in the Nute high school; that he did so without intending or expecting to abandon East Kingston, but intending to return in the following September; that he did return during that month, and made repairs upon his house preparatory to moving into it; that he never voted elsewhere: is about to return to East Kingston with his family; that his absence was strictly temporary and for the purpose stated; that he appeared before the board of supervisors on Monday and made oath to the foregoing facts, and that no one objected to his right to vote until after this contest was made. There was no evidence before the committee as to how Mr. Lee voted, and, so far as can be determined, one of the Democratic ballots upon which there was no vote for representative, may have been Mr. Lee's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the two Democratic ballots for French.

In the case of Mr. Lord, it appeared that he was married in East Kingston about eight years ago, to a young woman who lived there; that he is a man of dissolute habits, and was not liked by his wife's parents; that he voted in East Kingston from the time when he came and resided there, nearly eight years ago, until the last election, except at the last March meeting, when his name was left off because he was undergoing a sentence in the state prison. After his return in April, he went to work in East Kingston, and visited his wife every day or every few days at her home; that she did his washing and mended his clothing from that time on until now; that he came there every Sunday and changed his clothes, did something to support his wife and child, had meals there occasionally and remained over night. He claimed that was his home, and was never denied access to it by the owner of the house, the grandfather of his wife, who testified to the foregoing facts.

While Mr. Lord received assistance in marking his ballot, there is no evidence but what one of the two ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, on which there was no mark for representative, may have been cast by Mr. Lord. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that his vote was cast for Mr. Morrill.

It was objected that he was not sworn before voting. But, against the evidence of those who said they did not see him sworn, was the positive oath of the moderator and ballot clerk, that he did take the oath.

It also appeared in evidence that the night before election Mr. Lord went to the Republican headquarters, where the contestant and twelve others were in session, at half past ten o'clock, and stated that some one had agreed to get his name upon the check-list and that it had not been done. The contestant, Mr. French, also testified that on election day he met Mr. Lord alone, out of doors, back of the town hall, and that he asked him if he was not going to vote for him; that Lord replied that he thought he ought to but that he could not; that French replied he thought he ought to because he took him in to work when he came back from the state prison; that when he saw him go in to cast his vote he made up his mind he was a "goner," and that if he had voted for him (French) he "should have been willing to have had him do so."

Your committee regards it as a somewhat remarkable proposition for a contestant to ask that the sitting member be deprived of his seat, because an illegal vote was alleged to have been cast for him, when the contestant himself was seeking to have the same illegal vote cast for him, and would have regarded it as a legitimate transaction. And we cannot assent to the logic which would regard Mr. Lord as a legal voter up to the time when Mr. French sought his vote, and an illegal voter after he discovered he was a "goner."

In the case of Mr. Tilton, it appeared that he was born in East Kingston, has voted there at every election since he became twenty-one, to wit, sixteen years; that he never has moved from there; that four years ago he bought a livery stable in Exeter, which he kept for about eight months, in the meantime boarding in Exeter, with his wife and child, whom he took there to put into school; that after disposing of his livery, he purchased the furniture of a hotel and took a lease of it for his brother-in-law; that afterwards he was compelled to take it off his hands and finally dispose of it; that he left his entire household goods and his house completely furnished at East Kingston; that he moved nothing except a piano; that during the summer seasons, he with his family and friends occupied the house at East Kingston; that he had no purpose whatever of giving up his residence at East Kingston, and never in fact moved from there; that his name was on the posted list; that no objection was made to it before the board of supervisors, or in fact to any name that was put upon the list, and that his right to vote in East Kingston was beyond any sort of doubt or question.

There was no evidence as to how Mr. Tilton voted. So far as the committee can say, one of the four Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative may have been Mr. Tilton's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that he voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the Democratic ballots for Mr. French.

If Mr. Lord had not the right to vote for Mr. Morrill, but would have had the right to vote for Mr. French, then the state of the vote would be fifty-nine for Mr. Morrill, and fifty-eight for Mr. French, provided he did vote for Mr. Morrill, of which there was no evidence; and if he and Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, of which there is no evidence, and had not a right to vote, then the state of the vote would be fifty-eight for Mr. French, and fifty-eight for Mr. Morrill.

The undersigned, however, find that the votes of Mr. Lee and Mr. Lord and Mr. Tilton were legal and legally cast, and that upon the hypothesis that they all voted for Mr. Morrill, his vote was sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. Assuming that the votes of Mr. Lee, Mr. Lord, and Mr. Tilton were not legal, and in the absence of evidence that the blank Democratic ballots were not cast by them, or the two Democratic ballots for French were not cast by Lee and Tilton, and that they did in fact vote for Mr. Morrill, your committee are unable to see any possible ground upon which the right of the sitting member to a seat in this House can be contested. None of the votes above referred to were challenged or objected to, nor was any objection made to the declaration of the election of Mr. Morrill by any one when the votes were counted, Mr. French being present.

Upon the vote for moderator, there was a majority of twelve for the Democratic candidate, and the Democratic ticket was generally successful by about ten majority, and upon the whole case, and upon all the evidence presented, your committee respectfully report that the petition of the said Francis T. French should be denied, and that the sitting member, George F. Morrill, be declared to be rightfully entitled to his seat in this House.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the remonstrance of T. D. Little and seventy-one others, against the right of William Dunlap to a seat in this House, and the petition of the same, that Andrew H. Parsons be authorized to hold a seat as representative from the town of Salisbury, report that they have considered the same, and recommend the passage of the following resolution :

Resolved, That William Dunlap is not entitled to a seat in this House, and that Andrew H. Parsons is entitled to a seat in this House, as representative from the town of Salisbury.

W. W. SCOTT,
For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the majority report of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the above petition for a seat in this House, respectfully submit the following report :

At the election in the town of Salisbury, on November 8, 1892, Andrew H. Parsons, the contestant, received ninety-nine votes, and William Dunlap, the sitting member, one hundred votes. To the declaration of the moderator that Mr. Dunlap was elected no objection was made.

The board of election officers in the town of Salisbury consisted of five Republicans and four Democrats, and the contestant was one of the election officers.

On one ballot counted for Mr. Dunlap the x was placed between the name and the political designation, and with one exception, where the vote for one candidate was defective, was a straight Democratic ballot. Every election officer but one who appeared before the committee testified that no objection was made to the counting of this ballot. The contestant himself, who was present at the counting as an election officer, testified that he made no objection himself and heard none.

We are clearly of the opinion that it was the intention of the voter who cast this ballot to vote for Mr. Dunlap, and that the Republican board of election officers were right in so counting it.

A copy of this ballot is annexed to and made a part of this report.

The contestant claimed that three persons who, as it was alleged, voted for Mr. Dunlap, to wit, Edward Wayne, George W. Rayno, and John F. Haskell, were not legal voters in the town of Salisbury.

As the committee were nearly unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Wayne was a legal voter in Salisbury, a recital of the facts in his case is unnecessary.

It appeared that George W. Rayno was born in Salisbury, was twenty-seven years old, had always voted in Salisbury and never elsewhere, and had always paid his taxes there, except that one year he had paid taxes on a horse kept on the first day of April, 1889, in the town of Andover, and that his home had always been at his father's in Salisbury; that some time in April, 1892, he engaged to work for six months on a farm in Andover; that he was married in May, 1892, and while he remained at work in Andover his wife for the most part was at his home in Salisbury, and that after completing his work in Andover, in September, 1892, he returned to Salisbury, where he has ever since resided.

While we entertain no doubt as to the right of Mr. Rayno to vote in Salisbury, we are unable to determine for whom he voted.

In the case of John F. Haskell, it appeared that he had resided in Salisbury since August, 1889, voting in Salisbury at the biennial election in 1890, and at the March election in 1892; that in October, 1892, at the solicitation of an aspirant for the Republican nomination as representative in the town of Warner, his name was without his knowledge put on the check-list in said Warner, and at the request of said aspirant, who was at the time informed by Mr. Haskell that his home was in Salisbury and that he should vote there, said Haskell voted in the Republican caucus in said Warner.

It further appeared that said Haskell did not vote for either Mr. Dunlap or Mr. Parsons.

We are of the opinion that Mr. Haskell was a legal voter in the town of Salisbury.

We further find that three Republicans, to wit, Francis Flanders, Oliver Rayno, Jr., and one Smith, voted in Salisbury, whose right to vote was far more questionable than any of the parties heretofore mentioned, and that in the case of Francis Flanders the illegality of his vote was clearly established.

Said Flanders moved from Salisbury to Webster in February, 1892, and has ever since resided there. On the Saturday or Monday before election, in company with his brother-in-law, at whose house in Webster he resided, he appeared before the supervisors in Webster, stated how long he had lived in Webster, and requested that his name be put upon the check-list, and in accordance with his request his name was added to the list of legal voters in said Webster.

Our conclusion is that Mr. Dunlap was fairly and honestly chosen a representative from the town of Salisbury, and is entitled to retain his seat in this House.

T. J. HOWARD.
DANIEL STEVENS.
H. A. WHITCHER.
JOHN BOWEN.
JAMES T. GORDON.

On motion of Mr. Lyford of Concord, the consideration of the reports was made the special order for to-morrow at 12 o'clock noon.

The House then resumed the consideration of the motion to indefinitely postpone the following entitled bill :

Mr. Morrill of Hopkinton called for the second special order of the afternoon, which was the consideration of the following reports of the Committee on Elections :

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was submitted the remonstrance of Francis T. French and others, against the right of George F. Morrill of East Kingston to a seat in this House, having duly considered the same, and at considerable length, respectfully submit this their report in the following resolution :

Resolved, That Francis T. French is entitled to a seat in this House.

FRANK I. MORRILL,
For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the report of the majority of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the petition of Francis T. French for a seat in this House, as representative of the town of East Kingston, having considered the same, respectfully submit the following report :

At the biennial election, held at East Kingston on the 8th day of November last, Francis T. French, the petitioner, received fifty-eight votes for representative, and George F. Morrill, the sitting member, fifty-nine, about which there was no dispute.

It is not disputed that there were sixteen Democratic votes cast where the voter received assistance from the election officers. Of these, twelve were assisted by Joseph G. Nelson, the Democratic clerk, and two by Joseph G. Nelson and William S. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were two marked by Joseph G. Nelson, upon which he also wrote the name of the person voting, to wit, Dana M. Fogg and John W. Nichols.

There were eight Republican votes cast where the voter was assisted by Mr. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were also two straight Democratic ballots in which French was voted for. There were seven votes cast on which there was no vote for representative. Of these, six were straight Democratic ballots, and one Republican. Of the six Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative, two were marked by Mr. Nelson.

One ballot was marked "defective," for register of deeds, representative to the General Court, and moderator, and was not counted by the election officers, and is not included in the fifty-nine votes cast for Mr. Morrill. This ballot was marked for the Democratic candidates throughout, but the voter, in making his cross for register of deeds, placed the cross in the space below the name of the Democratic candidate, and also in the space below the name of the representative to the General Court, Mr. Morrill. Mr. French's name was printed first on the ticket, as Republican candidate for representative, and Mr. Morrill's name was printed below. On the ballot in question the cross was made in the square immediately below Mr. Morrill's name and opposite the blank left in the ticket. Otherwise the ballot was a straight Democratic ticket; and, following the precedent established by the House in the case of Wadleigh v. Lovering, where a ballot containing a cross through "gh" in the name of Wadleigh was counted for him, and where another ballot in which the cross was in the square below Wadleigh's name was counted for him; and following the precedent in the case of Brown of Claremont, who was given a seat upon a ballot on which the mark was made immediately below his name, instead of opposite, the ballot in question should be counted for Mr. Morrill, and would make the number of votes received by him sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. If this vote should not be counted, upon the ground that the House should not go behind the official acts of the election officers, then the acts of the board of supervisors in putting the names of certain voters upon the lists, referred to hereafter, should not be disturbed or questioned.

The ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, upon which he placed the names of the voters, Fogg and Nichols, were objected to by the contestant at the hearing, upon the single ground that the voters did not take the oath before receiving assistance. But it appeared in the evidence, and it was not disputed, that before the voting commenced, an agreement was entered into between the Republican and Democratic election officers, that they would not require voters to take the oath because, as they said, they knew who would be unable to mark his ballot, and they would therefore dispense with the formalities of an oath. Under this agreement, Fogg and Nichols were allowed to vote without objection, and one or two other Democratic voters, but it appeared that as many, if not more, Republicans voted in the same way; so that there can be no just ground of complaint on either side. There was no dispute that both Fogg and Nichols required assistance, and had a right to receive it.

The only further objection made by the contestant was as to the right of A. Herbert Tilton, Frank W. Lee, and Fred Lord, to vote in East Kingston.

It appeared in the case of Mr. Lee, that he owned a place in East Kingston, which he bought over four years ago, and which he still owns; that he voted at the next election; that he lived upon the place nearly two years, working in Haverhill in the shoe-shop; that he moved his wife and little child to Milton Three-Ponds about a year and a half ago, for the purpose of putting his boy in the Nute high school; that he did so without intending or expecting to abandon East Kingston, but intending to return in the following September; that he did return during that month, and made repairs upon his house preparatory to moving into it; that he never voted elsewhere: is about to return to East Kingston with his family; that his absence was strictly temporary and for the purpose stated; that he appeared before the board of supervisors on Monday and made oath to the foregoing facts, and that no one objected to his right to vote until after this contest was made. There was no evidence before the committee as to how Mr. Lee voted, and, so far as can be determined, one of the Democratic ballots upon which there was no vote for representative, may have been Mr. Lee's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the two Democratic ballots for French.

In the case of Mr. Lord, it appeared that he was married in East Kingston about eight years ago, to a young woman who lived there; that he is a man of dissolute habits, and was not liked by his wife's parents; that he voted in East Kingston from the time when he came and resided there, nearly eight years ago, until the last election, except at the last March meeting, when his name was left off because he was undergoing a sentence in the state prison. After his return in April, he went to work in East Kingston, and visited his wife every day or every few days at her home; that she did his washing and mended his clothing from that time on until now; that he came there every Sunday and changed his clothes, did something to support his wife and child, had meals there occasionally and remained over night. He claimed that was his home, and was never denied access to it by the owner of the house, the grandfather of his wife, who testified to the foregoing facts.

While Mr. Lord received assistance in marking his ballot, there is no evidence but what one of the two ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, on which there was no mark for representative, may have been cast by Mr. Lord. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that his vote was cast for Mr. Morrill.

It was objected that he was not sworn before voting. But, against the evidence of those who said they did not see him sworn, was the positive oath of the moderator and ballot clerk, that he did take the oath.

It also appeared in evidence that the night before election Mr. Lord went to the Republican headquarters, where the contestant and twelve others were in session, at half past ten o'clock, and stated that some one had agreed to get his name upon the check-list and that it had not been done. The contestant, Mr. French, also testified that on election day he met Mr. Lord alone, out of doors, back of the town hall, and that he asked him if he was not going to vote for him; that Lord replied that he thought he ought to but that he could not; that French replied he thought he ought to because he took him in to work when he came back from the state prison; that when he saw him go in to cast his vote he made up his mind he was a "goner," and that if he had voted for him (French) he "should have been willing to have had him do so."

Your committee regards it as a somewhat remarkable proposition for a contestant to ask that the sitting member be deprived of his seat, because an illegal vote was alleged to have been cast for him, when the contestant himself was seeking to have the same illegal vote cast for him, and would have regarded it as a legitimate transaction. And we cannot assent to the logic which would regard Mr. Lord as a legal voter up to the time when Mr. French sought his vote, and an illegal voter after he discovered he was a "goner."

In the case of Mr. Tilton, it appeared that he was born in East Kingston, has voted there at every election since he became twenty-one, to wit, sixteen years; that he never has moved from there; that four years ago he bought a livery stable in Exeter, which he kept for about eight months, in the meantime boarding in Exeter, with his wife and child, whom he took there to put into school; that after disposing of his livery, he purchased the furniture of a hotel and took a lease of it for his brother-in-law; that afterwards he was compelled to take it off his hands and finally dispose of it; that he left his entire household goods and his house completely furnished at East Kingston; that he moved nothing except a piano; that during the summer seasons, he with his family and friends occupied the house at East Kingston; that he had no purpose whatever of giving up his residence at East Kingston, and never in fact moved from there; that his name was on the posted list; that no objection was made to it before the board of supervisors, or in fact to any name that was put upon the list, and that his right to vote in East Kingston was beyond any sort of doubt or question.

There was no evidence as to how Mr. Tilton voted. So far as the committee can say, one of the four Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative may have been Mr. Tilton's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that he voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the Democratic ballots for Mr. French.

If Mr. Lord had not the right to vote for Mr. Morrill, but would have had the right to vote for Mr. French, then the state of the vote would be fifty-nine for Mr. Morrill, and fifty-eight for Mr. French, provided he did vote for Mr. Morrill, of which there was no evidence; and if he and Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, of which there is no evidence, and had not a right to vote, then the state of the vote would be fifty-eight for Mr. French, and fifty-eight for Mr. Morrill.

The undersigned, however, find that the votes of Mr. Lee and Mr. Lord and Mr. Tilton were legal and legally cast, and that upon the hypothesis that they all voted for Mr. Morrill, his vote was sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. Assuming that the votes of Mr. Lee, Mr. Lord, and Mr. Tilton were not legal, and in the absence of evidence that the blank Democratic ballots were not cast by them, or the two Democratic ballots for French were not cast by Lee and Tilton, and that they did in fact vote for Mr. Morrill, your committee are unable to see any possible ground upon which the right of the sitting member to a seat in this House can be contested. None of the votes above referred to were challenged or objected to, nor was any objection made to the declaration of the election of Mr. Morrill by any one when the votes were counted, Mr. French being present.

Upon the vote for moderator, there was a majority of twelve for the Democratic candidate, and the Democratic ticket was generally successful by about ten majority, and upon the whole case, and upon all the evidence presented, your committee respectfully report that the petition of the said Francis T. French should be denied, and that the sitting member, George F. Morrill, be declared to be rightfully entitled to his seat in this House.

The following report was received from the state board of health :

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

CONCORD, March 8, 1893.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives :

In accordance with the instruction received from your honorable bodies, the State Board of Health submits herewith a partial report of the work authorized by the following concurrent resolution :

Resolved, That the state board of health be directed to investigate the cause of the recent fire at the Strafford County almshouse and asylum, by which forty or more persons were burned to death; and, further, the said board shall investigate the management, construction, and condition of the said county buildings: the board shall also include in its investigation any other almshouse or asylum for the insane in this state that it deems necessary, and the board is empowered to send for persons and papers, and it shall report at as early a day as practicable all the particulars of its investigation, with such recommendations as it deems best for the public good.

The board finds it to be impossible to investigate in detail the construction, condition, and management of the asylums and almshouses in all of the counties in season to make a report upon the same at this session of the legislature. The board purposes, unless otherwise instructed, to extend its investigations to all the institutions named in the concurrent resolution, and to report upon these at the next session of the legislature. We are of the opinion that the continuance of this investigation is necessary in order to place before the proper authorities and the people the exact condition of these institutions. We are, however, emphatically of the opinion that it is the duty of the present legislature to take decided action in behalf of the pauper and indigent insane of the state.

In accordance with the terms of the resolution, the state board of health conducted a somewhat extended investigation into the cause of the fire at the Strafford County asylum for the insane, and into other matters connected with the management of that institution and the county almshouse. The entire investigation was conducted under the legal advice and presence of the attorney-general, together with other members of the board.

The coroner of the county was subpoenaed, with all the evidence presented to the coroner's jury at the inquest held by the county. In addition, the board examined thirteen witnesses. For explicit information as to the basis of the conclusions and recommendations herewith submitted, reference may be had to the testimony given at the coroner's inquest, and to 253 pages of type-written evidence taken by the board, all of which is on file in the office of the said board.

We find that on the night of February 9, 1893, the Strafford County asylum for the insane was destroyed by fire, and that by reason of said fire forty-one persons lost their lives.

We find, as also did the coroner's jury, that

Said asylum was a two-story building, with two-story L with attic, first floor occupied by keeper and his family and seventeen inmates, second floor by nineteen inmates, attic by eight inmates. There were fifty-six cells or apartments in all, twenty-one apartments or cells on first floor, twenty-three on second, and twelve in attic. The asylum was erected some twenty years ago, repaired and enlarged somewhat about ten years ago, constructed wholly of wooden materials, floorings, partitions, sheathings, and furnishings to all the cells of pine lumber; flooring and sheathing so dried and shrunken in portions of building as to enable persons to see each other between floors and cells, heated throughout by steam from boiler, by pipe hung from overhead. Its location was seventy feet west of the almshouse and four miles from Dover and about six miles from Great Falls and Rochester. The out-door inclosure for the use of the inmates was surrounded by a wooden fence about ten or twelve feet high, windows to asylum barred with four or more bars; also some of the windows had heavy wire screening on the inside; building had four doors, one in main building, one in cell, one leading into the out-door inclosure for women, and one leading into a like inclosure for men. Said building was supplied with two hundred feet of rubber hose, one hundred feet of which was kept coupled on to pipe leading to tank in the attic of almshouse; capacity of tank, twenty thousand or more gallons, that is always kept well filled by supply from pumping station. Another one hundred feet of hose hung on reel near stand-pipe; also supplied with four water-pails on first and four on second floor, which were always kept full.

At the time of the fire, and for several months previous, the management and control of the asylum was in the hands of the keeper, William P. Driscoll, with the exception that he had nothing to do with the food and clothing for the inmates, the same being supplied from the county almshouse under the direction of Chas. E. Demeritt, the superintendent. Mr. Driscoll was assisted at the asylum by his wife, who was matron of the institution. There were no other employés, the entire care of the forty-four inmates devolving upon Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll. Formerly Mr. Demeritt had entire charge of the almshouse and the asylum, but, owing to a personal difficulty which arose between himself and Mr. Driscoll, the county commissioners divided the authority by giving Mr. Driscoll full control of the asylum, and thereby relieving Mr. Demeritt of that especial duty.

There was a night watchman, Wilbur Chesley, who received his orders solely from Mr. Demeritt, superintendent of the almshouse, and who was required to make six rounds each night, one of the stations, No. 4, being in the asylum for the insane. In making his 10 o'clock round on the night of February 9, he saw, upon entering the storm door at the main entrance of the asylum, through the glass of the inside door, a reflection from a fire in the cell of Mary LaFontaine. He entered the asylum as quickly as possible, and rushed to the apartment occupied by Mr. Driscoll and family at the further end of the corridor in the L, and informed him of the fire. Without waiting to dress, Keeper Driscoll rushed to the cell occupied by Mary LaFontaine and unlocked it, then turned and unlocked the cell of Jim Daly, near by, telling the watchman to "get some water and open the doors;" but while getting Daly out, Mrs. LaFontaine jumped upon Mr. Driscoll's back. Mr. Driscoll almost instantly disengaged himself from Mrs. LaFontaine, as he states himself, and the watchman also testified that Driscoll had freed himself from the woman before he had got the front door unlocked. The watchman, Chesley, left the asylum as quickly as possible, the spring lock effectually closing the door after him. Driscoll proceeded to unlock the other cells, and succeeded with those upon the first floor, barely escaping from the building in season to save himself and family. By this time, owing to the combustible nature of the building, it was so thoroughly on fire that further efforts proved unavailing. Two of the inmates whose rooms were unlocked by Mr. Driscoll escaped from the burning building, and one woman was rescued from the second story from outside. The remaining forty-one inmates were destroyed.

Some points brought out in the evidence taken by the board are herewith submitted :

John S. Daniels, coroner of Strafford county, and formerly physician to the Strafford County almshouse and asylum, testified that he had remarked to the county commissioners and to the keeper that the building was a poor one, and that the county ought to have a better one; that it was impossible to keep it in a clean and healthy condition; that the sheathing had shrunk so that one could look through the cracks; that some of the beds had no coverings on because the patients tore them up; that a woman who was partially paralyzed had charge of the wards a good part of the time during his last term of service at the institution; that she was a pauper taken from the almshouse; that he made no recommendations in his report to the county as county physician regarding defects, but followed the course taken by other physicians.

Dwight E. Edgerly, chairman of the county commissioners, testified that he had held the office of county commissioner three years and eight months; the improvements in the asylum during that time were new floors and a few new cells in the attic; no appropriations for buildings during his term of service; no instructions had been received from the county delegation; not more than one half or two thirds of the delegation visited the institution; Demeritt had no control over the asylum after Driscoll was given authority: cooking for the asylum was done at the almshouse and furnished, but Driscoll had no authority to dictate what the food should be; he had thought of asking the county delegation to appropriate money for fire escapes; never tested fire hose and never saw it tested: no ladders at the asylum building: the unsafe character had been mentioned by the state board of health; and the county delegation had spoken of it: Driscoll could probably have done more effectual service with the hose than with the pails of water: the watchman received his orders from Demeritt; commissioners never looked at the watchman's dial; Demeritt had full control of the watchman: Driscoll could not order the diet of the patients; did not consider the building used for the insane fit for the purpose; it was about as bad a fire-trap as could be.

Winthrop S. Meserve, county commissioner, said he had never tested the hose: did not think the building suitable for the insane; did not think the county delegation competent to judge of the necessities of such an institution; never inspected the fire apparatus: gave Mr. Demeritt no particular instructions: if anything came up he talked it over with the commissioners: the matter of managing the institution was left wholly to Demeritt; found it absolutely impossible to classify the inmates at the county asylum. He corroborated the statements made by County Commissioner Edgerly.

Frank P. Reeve, county commissioner, said that he never looked at the fire apparatus, but had seen Driscoll using the hose in washing windows; suggested to the county commissioners, Edgerly and Meserve, that the asylum was unfit for the purpose; talked with Driscoll about his drinking; authority divided only in relation to the management of patients; Demeritt was told to visit the asylum and report anything amiss.

Charles E. Demeritt, superintendent of the Strafford County almshouse, testified that he got his instructions about managing the farm from the commissioners; prepared the food and clothing for the inmates of the asylum, which was about all he had to do with it; formerly had a little trouble with Driscoll, and the matter was referred to the commissioners, and the latter gave Driscoll control over the asylum, but asked him (Demeritt) to look around occasionally and make report of anything wrong; did not know as the help were instructed regarding the use of the hose; did not consider the asylum a part of his business after the difficulty with Driscoll, and so assumed no responsibility about that building afterwards; reported to the commissioners that Driscoll had been away from duty two or three days; in Driscoll's absence, Mrs. Driscoll looked after the inmates; had heard that Driscoll drank, but never saw any signs of it; never saw him about the premises when he appeared to have been drinking; never had any practice in using hose, or any instructions what to do in case of fire, except he gave some instructions to the watchman; some three or four times the dial did not show that the watchman visited the asylum; it indicated that the watchman did not turn the key on the nine o'clock round on the night of the fire; did not know as he had ever spoken to the watchman about the matter; the watchman called his attention to the fire; at that time the lower part of the building seemed to be all ablaze, and smoke was coming out of the windows; sent for ladders and axes and they were brought from a shed near the stable; never made any suggestions to the commissioners regarding the building; had been fortunate in getting pretty good help; had one man in his employ who got drunk; there was no reason why the watchman could not have taken the keys from their boxes to his own room and there have properly wound the clock; usually took the dials off and threw them into the waste-basket; never thought of showing them to the commissioners; found that the watchman did not always make his rounds as expected; boilers had not been tested since he was superintendent; three inmates of the asylum were supported by private parties; knew that this was in violation of the law; the locks to the cells in the house of correction, in the basement of the almshouse, have each a different key; think the protection against fire in the almshouse rather poor; have not drank a drop of liquor for six or seven years; got into an excited condition, could not sleep well, and took chloral to quiet nerves ; thought he took too much ; followed it daily for quite a number of days ; commenced using it some six weeks ago, but had not used it for the past four days ; stopped using it as soon as he found out its effect ; he supposed his appearance of having used liquor was due to the chloral.

William P. Driscoll, the keeper of the asylum for the insane, testified that he had been at the institution since seven years last September, and most of the time since had been in charge of the asylum ; there were 44 cells occupied at the time of the fire ; each inmate had a separate room ; two thirds of the inmates were pretty reasonable at times ; food was prepared at the almshouse and brought over to the asylum ; the distance from the top of the boiler to the flooring overhead was about 20 inches ; there was some sand on the top of the boiler ; the water pails were full ; inspected them twice a week on an average ; had 200 feet of hose ; had thrown water up to second-story windows in washing them with it ; told Chesley to get some water and to open the doors, and after that did not remember seeing him ; thought if he had not been hindered by Mary LaFontaine he could have stopped the fire ; there were four exits from the building ; the state board of health had spoken of the bad condition of the building ; the partitions were shrunk badly so there were cracks between them ; they used to putty them up before they were painted, and some of the inmates would dig it out, and in some places he could put his finger in ; the inmates would run spoons and other things through ; the watchman informed him that the asylum was on fire ; he sprang out of bed and passed him on the way to Mary LaFontaine's cell and unlocked her door ; said the blaze when he first saw it was not larger than a bushel basket, and burned up in a small flame. Before unlocking her door he immediately unlocked Daly, thinking the latter would assist him, and by that time Mrs. LaFontaine was on his back ; he released himself immediately, and threw two pails of water on the fire, then, thinking the fire beyond his control, he proceeded to unlock other rooms ; the hose was not used ; he thinks he unlocked every door on the first floor, with possibly one exception ; the locks were spring padlocks, and it required three different kinds of keys to unlock them; that quite a number of the patients had judgment enough to get out if they could have done so,—two thirds, according to his best judgment; he asked Chesley to unlock doors, and he replied, “ I will get some help,” and that was the last he saw of him until after the building was burned; was not accountable to Mr. Demeritt for anything; if he did not get food enough for the inmates, it was his place to ask for more; had nothing to do with the quality of the food, only the quantity; Mr. Edgerly spoke to him once about being away from duty; Mr. Edgerly asked him about drinking; he told him that he had drank; he never used liquor about the institution, never drank a drop there while in charge of it; there used to be a fireman at the institution who got drunk; had seen one of the cooks intoxicated; had heard it mentioned that Demeritt drank; heard some of the inmates make that remark; had seen Demeritt when he thought he had been drinking; it was the morning after the fire; some of the inmates of the almshouse had been to Dover and returned under the influence of liquor; thought Mr. Chesley’s near-sightedness was against him as a watchman; he was also afraid to make his rounds alone at times; some of the inmates complained of others disturbing them at night; it had been six or eight weeks since he had used any intoxicating liquor; signed the pledge some six weeks ago and had drank nothing since; had no authority over the watchman at the asylum; Mr. Demeritt showed the watchman around, so supposed he had given him full instructions; never showed the watchman anything about the hose; it was right in front of him when he came in; there were two hanging lamps in each corridor; there was nothing to hinder an inmate from breaking those lamps if they were so disposed; every inmate was locked up at night; some of the patients were more or less noisy every night; if he heard a strange noise he investigated it; the woman with the broken hip was strapped to her bed to keep her from getting out; the strap was fastened to a staple in the side of the building; received attention at night until the leg was knitted, after which she was left alone; watchman was instructed to report anything wrong, but never reported; administered medicine to violent patients if he deemed it necessary: several of the inmates smoked: Mary LaFontaine smoked once or twice a week on an average: supposed Mrs. LaFontaine set the buildings on fire: think she must have had a match: he gave the inmates matches when they wanted to smoke, and some one of them might have handed her a match: gave them one or two matches at a time.

Wilbur S. Chesley testified that he was hired by Mr. Demeritt to serve as watchman: was recommended by Commissioner Meserve: commenced work the 17th of December last: went through the corridors of the first and second floors at the asylum on each round: did not go into the attic: the night of the fire he went into the asylum about five or ten minutes past nine: this round was not registered on the dial, so must have omitted to use the key: on the next round, about 10 o'clock, saw a reflection of fire from Mrs. LaFontaine's room through the glass door of the asylum. Went directly to Driscoll's sleeping-room and told him that the asylum was on fire: he came out immediately, took the keys and began to unlock: told him to unlock the outside door: he had the key to this door only: unlocked the door and went directly to the almshouse and aroused the superintendent and others, then went back to assist at the fire: the fire was so advanced that no one could enter the building: did not know anything about the hose in the building: never received instructions from anybody regarding fire: took his instructions from Mr. Demeritt: did not consider that Mr. Driscoll had anything to do with him: Mr. Demeritt told him about the hose and fire buckets in the almshouse: never tried the hose: had always been near-sighted: discovered that Mr. Demeritt had used chloral: saw him when ill in his room several times when he appeared stupid: saw him two weeks later in same condition: saw the woman get on Driscoll's back, and saw him disengage himself from her: Mr. Driscoll did not ask him to assist him in getting free from the woman: did not think the fire could have been extinguished with the hose if it had been used: an inmate might have made a great deal of noise through sickness or distress and he would not have known the cause: did not know how many pails of water there were in the asylum: had never seen any ; there was a Yale spring lock on door ; at first was told to look after the woman with broken hip in making his rounds, but after one or two nights no attention was paid to her ; never gave attention to any other patients.

The above synopsis of the more salient points brought out by the principal witnesses is presented for the purpose of giving a more general knowledge of the case than otherwise would have been obtained except by reference to the quite voluminous stenographic report of the hearings.

The board has carefully reviewed all the evidence presented in this case, and has arrived at the following

CONCLUSIONS.

First. That the fire originated in the room occupied by Mary LaFontaine, and was, probably, ignited with a match in her possession. It was shown that matches were furnished those inmates who smoked. She smoked occasionally, therefore it would not be difficult for her to obtain matches herself or from other inmates. That the attendant of the asylum, William P. Driscoll, in a manner inexcusably careless, furnished matches to the aforesaid inmates when called for.

Second. That the fire might have been extinguished immediately after its discovery, had the watchman, Mr. Chesley, and the keeper, Mr. Driscoll, promptly made the attempt, inasmuch as at the time of its discovery the fire was small, being, according to Mr. Driscoll's testimony, "no larger than a bushel basket," and there was a fire hose ready for instant use, within a few feet of the fire, which was not used at all.

Third. That Mr. Wilbur S. Chesley, upon his own testimony, is shown to be totally unfit for a watchman, by reason of his defective eyesight, and also in not knowing, after having made the rounds of that institution for several months, that there was a fire hose and fire buckets in the asylum.

Fourth. That the superintendent, Mr. Chas. E. Demeritt, while having many commendable qualities, was inefficient in his administration of the affairs of the institution in the following particulars : Neglect in not having given specific instructions to his employés (and especially the watchman) as to what should be done in case a fire was discovered; in not disciplining or reprimanding the watchman for failure to perform his required duties, as shown by the register dial of the watchman's clock: in not having a properly organized and drilled fire squad, consisting of his employés and such inmates as might be available.

Fifth. That the attendant, Wm. P. Driscoll, was guilty of faulty management in not having instructed the watchman regarding the means available for extinguishing fire at the asylum, even though the testimony shows that he had no authority over the watchman.

Sixth. That the county commissioners were negligent of their duties in the following particulars: In not giving explicit instructions as to the management of the institution, both the almshouse and the asylum; in not examining carefully and fully into all the details of the management of both of these departments, and remedying the defects that might have been readily ascertained by them: in not providing fire-escapes, which they might have done, to a greater or less extent, without a special appropriation for that purpose; in not furnishing suitable means for promptly liberating the inmates from their cells, the testimony showing that several different keys were required to unlock the doors; in dividing the responsibility of the management of the institution, on account of personal differences between Mr. Demeritt and Mr. Driscoll, instead of discharging one or both, and employing one competent man to take their places.

Seventh. That prior boards of county commissioners were guilty of official negligence in not recommending to the county delegation such improvements and changes as were necessary to the best interests of the institution, and for not taking action themselves as far as their authority extended under the law.

Eighth. That all previous county delegations have been guilty of allowing to exist, and of maintaining, after having been officially warned of its condition in 1883, a building for the use of the insane which was totally unfit for the purpose, and at which has existed at all times the terrible danger from fire, which finally destroyed it, with an appalling loss of life.

Ninth. In investigating the rumors of intoxication connected with the institution, the board found that Mr. Demeritt has, for a short period, been addicted to the use of chloral: and that, in consequence of the use of that drug, his efficiency was, perhaps, somewhat impaired,—but this had no bearing upon the question of the fire; that, so far as Mr. Driscoll is concerned, it appears from his own testimony, and that of others, that several times within a year he has been given to the excessive use of intoxicating liquor, and on one occasion at least, was gone from the institution two and a half or three days, leaving nobody, except his wife, in charge of the asylum during that time. There was no evidence showing that he ever drank at the institution. The evidence further shows that two of the employés of the institution had been seen in a condition of partial intoxication.

The system of caring for the county insane is the same in all counties, differing only in some minor details. It was not originated through carefully matured plans, after due consideration of the requirements of the insane, but it was the outgrowth of a forced necessity, the guiding principle of which has been to house, clothe, and feed this unfortunate class at the smallest possible expense to the county. To this end, few provisions have been made for anything beyond the brute necessity of life. The principle that the insane should always be regarded as sick persons, who require expert medical treatment and special care with reference to surrounding influences, has not been taken into consideration in caring for our insane poor. Insanity is now recognized by the highest medical authorities as a disease, possessing an infinite variety of symptoms and manifestations, and requiring the most scientific, competent, considerate, and careful treatment and management. This more humane and logical method of treating the insane has been so frequently demonstrated to be the best and most successful, even among the so called chronic class, that the most skeptical have only to search the records to be convinced. It is through failure of legislative bodies to recognize the fundamental fact, that insane persons are sick persons, that no better treatment has heretofore been provided.

The system under which the county insane are now cared for is lamentably defective, inasmuch as the only authority legally qualified to make these institutions what they ought to be has little or no knowledge of the requirements necessary to the most modern and humane methods of providing for this class. The county delegation, upon which rests the power to appropriate money for these institutions, and to fully equip them in accordance with modern methods of managing the insane, too often, in fact generally, fails to study and to understand the needs of our asylums.

Among the defects which may be mentioned under the present county system are :

First. Lack of suitable buildings. In several of the counties of the state this statement admits of no qualification, the buildings used being unfit in toto. In other counties this criticism may not be so forceful, so far as the buildings themselves are concerned, but when the matter of classification is taken into account, proper and ample facilities are not to be found at any of the county institutions.

Second. No classification of patients. This is a radical defect in every county of the state. The custom of grouping together in one ward all the different classes of the insane, from the simplest case of delusional insanity to the most violent case of acute or chronic mania, is in itself a sufficient condemnation of the method.

Third. Lack of skilled attendants. For the proper care of the insane it is necessary that attendants more or less skilled in the care of, and possessing a knowledge of the characteristics of, this class of patients, is essential. Moreover, insane persons should at all times be under the watchful supervision of some attendant, a requirement not fulfilled at our county almshouses.

Fourth. Lack of expert medical and surgical treatment, which cannot be readily obtained at our county institutions.

Fifth. Lack of occupation and entertainment for the patients—features highly essential in the treatment of the insane.

In this same category many other defective conditions pertaining to our county asylums might be mentioned.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

First. That the state assume entire support, control, and management of the insane, and that county asylums for the insane be abolished.

Second. That all buildings hereafter constructed to be occupied as almshouses, asylums for the insane, jails, and orphans' homes, shall be built of brick, iron, or stone, with partitions of fire-proof or slow-burning material, the plans and specifications to be first approved by the state board of health, or such other authority as the legislature may direct.

Third. That the state board of health (or some other state authority) shall make at least annual inspections of such institutions, and shall have mandatory powers in all matters relating to the protection against fire, drainage and sewerage, ventilation of buildings, and other matters pertaining to the health and safety of the inmates, and all orders upon these matters shall be executed or carried into effect by the county commissioners or other legal authorities in charge.

Fourth. That we believe it to be for the best interests of all county institutions that the law should be so amended that one county commissioner be elected biennially, so that all members of the board shall not go out of office simultaneously, as often does occur under the present law.

We believe the foregoing recommendations to be for the best interests of the state, and we are prepared to support them, and to give our reasons therefor, before any legislative committee.

SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. Scott of Dover called for the fourth special order of the morning, which was the consideration of the following reports from the Committee on Elections :

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the remonstrance of T. D. Little and seventy-one others, against the right of William Dunlap to a seat in this House, and the petition of the same that Andrew H. Parsons be authorized to hold a seat as representative from the town of Salisbury, report that they have considered the same, and recommend the passage of the following resolution :

Resolved, That William Dunlap is not entitled to a seat in this House, and that Andrew H. Parsons is entitled to a seat in this House, as a representative from the town of Salisbury.

W. W. SCOTT,

For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the majority report of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the petition for a seat in this House, respectfully submit the following report :

At the election in the town of Salisbury, on November 8, 1892, Andrew H. Parsons, the contestant, received ninety-nine votes, and William Dunlap, the sitting member, one hundred votes. To the declaration of the moderator that Mr. Dunlap was elected, no objection was made.

The board of election officers in the town of Salisbury consisted of five Republicans and four Democrats, and the contestant was one of the election officers.

On one ballot counted for Mr. Dunlap the x was placed between the name and the political designation, and with one exception, where the vote for one candidate was defective, was a straight Democratic ballot. Every election officer but one who appeared before the committee testified that no objection was made to the counting of this ballot. The contestant himself, who was present at the counting as an election officer, testified that he made no objection himself and heard none.

We are clearly of the opinion that it was the intention of the voter who cast this ballot to vote for Mr. Dunlap, and that the Republican board of election officers were right in so counting it.

A copy of this ballot is annexed to and made a part of this report.

The contestant claimed that three persons, who, as it was alleged, voted for Mr. Dunlap, to wit, Edward Wayne, George W. Rayno, and John F. Haskell, were not legal voters in the town of Salisbury.

As the committee were nearly unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Wayne was a legal voter in Salisbury, a recital of the facts in his case is unnecessary.

It appeared that George W. Rayno was born in Salisbury, was twenty-seven years old, had always voted in Salisbury and never elsewhere, and had always paid his taxes there, except that one year he had paid taxes on a horse kept on the first day of April, 1889, in the town of Andover, and that his home had always been at his father's in Salisbury; that some time in April, 1892, he engaged to work for six months on a farm in Andover; that he was married in May, 1892, and while he remained at work in Andover his wife for the most part was at his home in Salisbury, and that after completing his work in Andover, in September, 1892, he returned to Salisbury, where he has ever since resided.

While we entertain no doubt as to the right of Mr. Rayno to vote in Salisbury, we are unable to determine for whom he voted.

In the case of John F. Haskell, it appeared that he had resided in Salisbury since August, 1889, voting in Salisbury at the biennial election in 1890, and at the March election in 1892; that in October, 1892, at the solicitation of an aspirant for the Republican nomination as representative in the town of Warner, his name was, without his knowledge, put on the check-list in said Warner, and at the request of said aspirant, who was at the time informed by Mr. Haskell that his home was in Salisbury and that he should vote there, said Haskell voted in the Republican caucus in said Warner.

It further appeared that said Haskell did not vote for either Mr. Dunlap or Mr. Parsons.

We are of the opinion that Mr. Haskell was a legal voter in the town of Salisbury.

We further find that three Republicans, to wit, Francis Flanders, Oliver Rayno, Jr., and one Smith, voted in Salisbury, whose right to vote was far more questionable than any of the parties heretofore mentioned, and that in the case of Francis Flanders the illegality of his vote was clearly established.

Said Flanders moved from Salisbury to Webster in February, 1892, and has ever since resided there. On the Saturday or Monday before election, in company with his brother-in-law, at whose house in Webster he resided, he appeared before the supervisors in Webster, stated how long he had lived in Webster, and requested that his name be put upon the check-list, and in accordance with his request his name was added to the list of legal voters in Webster.

Our conclusion is that Mr. Dunlap was fairly and honestly chosen a representative from the town of Salisbury, and is entitled to retain his seat in this House.

T. J. HOWARD.

DANIEL STEVENS.

H. A. WHITCHER.

JOHN BOWEN.

JAMES T. GORDON.

On motion of Mr. Scott of Dover, the reports were laid on the table, and made the special order for this afternoon at half past three o'clock.

On motion of Mr. Wiggins of Springfield, the House adjourned.

AFTERNOON.

The House met at 3 o'clock.

(The speaker in the chair.)

The Committee on Towns were granted leave to sit in session during the afternoon session of the House.

THIRD READING.

The following entitled bill was read a third time and passed :

An act in amendment of and in addition to section 12 of chapter 266 of the Public Statutes, relating to trespasses and malicious injuries.

SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. Prichard of New Ipswich called for the first special order of the afternoon, which was upon the following entitled bill :

An act providing for the completion of the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts in Durham, and for other purposes.

Mr. Ford of Groton moved that the bill be put back upon its second reading.

On the motion,

(Discussion ensued.)

The question being stated,

On a viva voce vote the motion was lost.

Mr. Ford of Groton called for a division, and a division was had with the following result :

Twenty-five gentlemen voted in the affirmative.

One hundred and eighty-three gentlemen voted in the negative.

The negative prevailed.

The motion did not prevail.

The question then being stated,

Shall the bill pass?

The affirmative prevailed.

The bill passed.

Mr. Page of Haverhill asked for unanimous consent to take up the following entitled bill and its new draft, which was made the special order for to-day at 12 o'clock noon, and had not been considered at that time, for the purpose of making a new assignment for its consideration :

An act to incorporate the Antrim Banking Company.

Unanimous consent was granted.

The bill was taken up, and on motion of Mr. Page of Haverhill, the bill was laid on the table and made the special order for tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. Scott of Dover called for the second special order of the afternoon, which was on the following reports from the Committee on Elections :

On motion of Mr. Page of Haverhill, the bill was made the special order for this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Spring for the Committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred the House bill entitled "An act to prevent the pollution of the waters and streams of the state," having considered the same, reported the same with the accompanying amendment, and as so amended recommended its passage :

Amend section 1 by inserting after the word "shall" in the first line of said section, the word wilfully, so that said section shall read :

SECTION 1. If any person shall wilfully throw, place, leave, or cause to be thrown, placed, or left, any sawdust, shavings, or other refuse of saw-mills in any lake, pond, or stream of water in this state, he shall be punished for the first offence by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both ; and for any subsequent offence by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both.

The report was accepted.

Mr. Fellows of Brentwood moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Fellows withdrew his motion.

The amendment was then adopted and the bill laid upon the table to be printed.

Mr. Lyford of Concord moved that the rules be suspended, and that the following reports from the Committee on Elections be taken up :

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was submitted the remonstrance of Francis T. French and others, against the right of George F. Morrill of East Kingston to a seat in this House, having duly considered the same, and at considerable length, respectfully submit this their report in the following resolution :

Resolved, That Francis T. French is entitled to a seat in this House.

FRANK I. MORRILL,
For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the report of the majority of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the petition of Francis T. French for a seat in this House, as representative of the town of East Kingston, having considered the same, respectfully submit the following report :

At the biennial election, held at East Kingston on the 8th day of November last, Francis T. French, the petitioner, received fifty-eight votes for representative, and George F. Morrill, the sitting member, fifty-nine, about which there was no dispute.

It is not disputed that there were sixteen Democratic votes cast where the voter received assistance from the election officers. Of these, twelve were assisted by Joseph G. Nelson, the Democratic clerk, and two by Joseph G. Nelson and William S. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were two marked by Joseph G. Nelson, upon which he also wrote the name of the person voting, to wit, Dana M. Fogg and John W. Nichols.

There were eight Republican votes cast where the voter was assisted by Mr. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were also two straight Democratic ballots in which French was voted for. There were seven votes cast on which there was no vote for representative. Of these, six were straight Democratic ballots, and one Republican. Of the six Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative, two were marked by Mr. Nelson.

One ballot was marked "defective," for register of deeds, representative to the General Court, and moderator, and was not counted by the election officers, and is not included in the fifty-nine votes cast for Mr. Morrill. This ballot was marked for the Democratic candidates throughout, but the voter, in making his cross for register of deeds, placed the cross in the space below the name of the Democratic candidate, and also in the space below the name of the representative to the General Court, Mr. Morrill. Mr. French's name was printed first on the ticket, as Republican candidate for representative, and Mr. Morrill's name was printed below. On the ballot in question the cross was made in the square immediately below Mr. Morrill's name and opposite the blank left in the ticket. Otherwise the ballot was a straight Democratic ticket; and, following the precedent established by the House in the case of Wadleigh v. Lovering, where a ballot containing a cross through "gh" in the name of Wadleigh was counted for him, and where another ballot in which the cross was in the square below Wadleigh's name was counted for him; and following the precedent in the case of Brown of Claremont, who was given a seat upon a ballot on which the mark was made immediately below his name, instead of opposite, the ballot in question should be counted for Mr. Morrill, and would make the number of votes received by him sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. If this vote should not be counted, upon the ground that the House should not go behind the official acts of the election officers, then the acts of the board of supervisors in putting the names of certain voters upon the lists, referred to hereafter, should not be disturbed or questioned.

The ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, upon which he placed the names of the voters, Fogg and Nichols, were objected to by the contestant at the hearing, upon the single ground that the voters did not take the oath before receiving assistance. But it appeared in the evidence, and it was not disputed, that before the voting commenced, an agreement was entered into between the Republican and Democratic election officers, that they would not require voters to take the oath because, as they said, they knew who would be unable to mark his ballot, and they would therefore dispense with the formalities of an oath. Under this agreement, Fogg and Nichols were allowed to vote without objection, and one or two other Democratic voters, but it appeared that as many, if not more, Republicans voted in the same way: so that there can be no just ground of complaint on either side. There was no dispute that both Fogg and Nichols required assistance, and had a right to receive it.

The only further objection made by the contestant was as to the right of A. Herbert Tilton, Frank W. Lee, and Fred Lord, to vote in East Kingston.

It appeared in the case of Mr. Lee, that he owned a place in East Kingston, which he bought over four years ago, and which he still owns; that he voted at the next election; that he lived upon the place nearly two years, working in Haverhill in the shoe-shop; that he moved his wife and little child to Milton Three-Ponds about a year and a half ago, for the purpose of putting his boy in the Nute high school; that he did so without intending or expecting to abandon East Kingston, but intending to return in the following September; that he did return during that month, and made repairs upon his house preparatory to moving into it; that he never voted elsewhere: is about to return to East Kingston with his family; that his absence was strictly temporary and for the purpose stated; that he appeared before the board of supervisors on Monday and made oath to the foregoing facts, and that no one objected to his right to vote until after this contest was made. There was no evidence before the committee as to how Mr. Lee voted, and, so far as can be determined, one of the Democratic ballots upon which there was no vote for representative, may have been Mr. Lee's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the two Democratic ballots for French.

In the case of Mr. Lord, it appeared that he was married in East Kingston about eight years ago, to a young woman who lived there; that he is a man of dissolute habits, and was not liked by his wife's parents; that he voted in East Kingston from the time when he came and resided there, nearly eight years ago, until the last election, except at the last March meeting, when his name was left off because he was undergoing a sentence in the state prison. After his return in April, he went to work in East Kingston, and visited his wife every day or every few days at her home; that she did his washing and mended his clothing from that time on until now; that he came there every Sunday and changed his clothes, did something to support his wife and child, had meals there occasionally and remained over night. He claimed that was his home, and was never denied access to it by the owner of the house, the grandfather of his wife, who testified to the foregoing facts.

While Mr. Lord received assistance in marking his ballot, there is no evidence but what one of the two ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, on which there was no mark for representative, may have been cast by Mr. Lord. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that his vote was cast for Mr. Morrill.

It was objected that he was not sworn before voting. But, against the evidence of those who said they did not see him sworn, was the positive oath of the moderator and ballot clerk, that he did take the oath.

It also appeared in evidence that the night before election Mr. Lord went to the Republican headquarters, where the contestant and twelve others were in session, at half past ten o'clock, and stated that some one had agreed to get his name upon the check-list and that it had not been done. The contestant, Mr. French, also testified that on election day he met Mr. Lord alone, out of doors, back of the town hall, and that he asked him if he was not going to vote for him; that Lord replied that he thought he ought to but that he could not; that French replied he thought he ought to because he took him in to work when he came back from the state prison; that when he saw him go in to cast his vote he made up his mind he was a "goner." and that if he had voted for him (French) he "should have been willing to have had him do so."

Your committee regards it as a somewhat remarkable proposition for a contestant to ask that the sitting member be deprived of his seat, because an illegal vote was alleged to have been cast for him, when the contestant himself was seeking to have the same illegal vote cast for him, and would have regarded it as a legitimate transaction. And we cannot assent to the logic which would regard Mr. Lord as a legal voter up to the time when Mr. French sought his vote, and an illegal voter after he discovered he was a "goner."

In the case of Mr. Tilton, it appeared that he was born in East Kingston, has voted there at every election since he became twenty-one, to wit, sixteen years; that he never has moved from there; that four years ago he bought a livery stable in Exeter, which he kept for about eight months, in the meantime boarding in Exeter, with his wife and child, whom he took there to put into school; that after disposing of his livery, he purchased the furniture of a hotel and took a lease of it for his brother-in-law; that afterwards he was compelled to take it off his hands and finally dispose of it; that he left his entire household goods and his house completely furnished at East Kingston; that he moved nothing except a piano; that during the summer seasons, he with his family and friends occupied the house at East Kingston; that he had no purpose whatever of giving up his residence at East Kingston, and never in fact moved from there; that his name was on the posted list; that no objection was made to it before the board of supervisors, or in fact to any name that was put upon the list, and that his right to vote in East Kingston was beyond any sort of doubt or question.

There was no evidence as to how Mr. Tilton voted. So far as the committee can say, one of the four Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative may have been Mr. Tilton's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that he voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the Democratic ballots for Mr. French.

If Mr. Lord had not the right to vote for Mr. Morrill, but would have had the right to vote for Mr. French, then the state of the vote would be fifty-nine for Mr. Morrill, and fifty-eight for Mr. French, provided he did vote for Mr. Morrill, of which there was no evidence; and if he and Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, of which there is no evidence, and had not a right to vote, then the state of the vote would be fifty-eight for Mr. French, and fifty-eight for Mr. Morrill.

The undersigned, however, find that the votes of Mr. Lee and Mr. Lord and Mr. Tilton were legal and legally cast, and that upon the hypothesis that they all voted for Mr. Morrill, his vote was sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. Assuming that the votes of Mr. Lee, Mr. Lord, and Mr. Tilton were not legal, and in the absence of evidence that the blank Democratic ballots were not cast by them, or the two Democratic ballots for French were not cast by Lee and Tilton, and that they did in fact vote for Mr. Morrill, your committee are unable to see any possible ground upon which the right of the sitting member to a seat in this House can be contested. None of the votes above referred to were challenged or objected to, nor was any objection made to the declaration of the election of Mr. Morrill by any one when the votes were counted, Mr. French being present.

Upon the vote for moderator, there was a majority of twelve for the Democratic candidate, and the Democratic ticket was generally successful by about ten majority, and upon the whole case, and upon all the evidence presented, your committee respectfully report that the petition of the said Francis T. French should be denied, and that the sitting member, George F. Morrill, be declared to be rightfully entitled to his seat in this House.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was submitted the remonstrance of Francis T. French and others, against the right of George F. Morrill of East Kingston to a seat in this House, having duly considered the same, and at considerable length, respectfully submit this their report in the following resolution :

Resolved, That Francis T. French is entitled to a seat in this House.

FRANK I. MORRILL,

For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the report of the majority of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the petition of Francis T. French for a seat in this House, as representative of the town of East Kingston, having considered the same, respectfully submit the following report :

At the biennial election, held at East Kingston on the 8th day of November last, Francis T. French, the petitioner, received fifty-eight votes for representative, and George F. Morrill, the sitting member, fifty-nine, about which there was no dispute.

It is not disputed that there were sixteen Democratic votes cast where the voter received assistance from the election officers. Of these, twelve were assisted by Joseph G. Nelson, the Democratic clerk, and two by Joseph G. Nelson and William S. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were two marked by Joseph G. Nelson, upon which he also wrote the name of the person voting, to wit, Dana M. Fogg and John W. Nichols.

There were eight Republican votes cast where the voter was assisted by Mr. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were also two straight Democratic ballots in which French was voted for. There were seven votes cast on which there was no vote for representative. Of these, six were straight Democratic ballots, and one Republican. Of the six Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative, two were marked by Mr. Nelson.

One ballot was marked "defective," for register of deeds, representative to the General Court, and moderator, and was not counted by the election officers, and is not included in the fifty-nine votes cast for Mr. Morrill. This ballot was marked for the Democratic candidates throughout, but the voter, in making his cross for register of deeds, placed the cross in the space below the name of the Democratic candidate, and also in the space below the name of the representative to the General Court, Mr. Morrill. Mr. French's name was printed first on the ticket, as Republican candidate for representative, and Mr. Morrill's name was printed below. On the ballot in question the cross was made in the square immediately below Mr. Morrill's name and opposite the blank left in the ticket. Otherwise the ballot was a straight Democratic ticket; and, following the precedent established by the House in the case of Wadleigh v. Lovering, where a ballot containing a cross through "gh" in the name of Wadleigh was counted for him, and where another ballot in which the cross was in the square below Wadleigh's name was counted for him; and following the precedent in the case of Brown of Claremont, who was given a seat upon a ballot on which the mark was made immediately below his name, instead of opposite, the ballot in question should be counted for Mr. Morrill, and would make the number of votes received by him sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. If this vote should not be counted, upon the ground that the House should not go behind the official acts of the election officers, then the acts of the board of supervisors in putting the names of certain voters upon the lists, referred to hereafter, should not be disturbed or questioned.

The ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, upon which he placed the names of the voters, Fogg and Nichols, were objected to by the contestant at the hearing, upon the single ground that the voters did not take the oath before receiving assistance. But it appeared in the evidence, and it was not disputed, that before the voting commenced, an agreement was entered into between the Republican and Democratic election officers, that they would not require voters to take the oath because, as they said, they knew who would be unable to mark his ballot, and they would therefore dispense with the formalities of an oath. Under this agreement, Fogg and Nichols were allowed to vote without objection, and one or two other Democratic voters, but it appeared that as many, if not more, Republicans voted in the same way; so that there can be no just ground of complaint on either side. There was no dispute that both Fogg and Nichols required assistance, and had a right to receive it.

The only further objection made by the contestant was as to the right of A. Herbert Tilton, Frank W. Lee, and Fred Lord, to vote in East Kingston.

It appeared in the case of Mr. Lee, that he owned a place in East Kingston, which he bought over four years ago, and which he still owns; that he voted at the next election; that he lived upon the place nearly two years, working in Haverhill in the shoe-shop; that he moved his wife and little child to Milton Three-Ponds about a year and a half ago, for the purpose of putting his boy in the Nute high school; that he did so without intending or expecting to abandon East Kingston, but intending to return in the following September; that he did return during that month, and made repairs upon his house preparatory to moving into it; that he never voted elsewhere: is about to return to East Kingston with his family; that his absence was strictly temporary and for the purpose stated; that he appeared before the board of supervisors on Monday and made oath to the foregoing facts, and that no one objected to his right to vote until after this contest was made. There was no evidence before the committee as to how Mr. Lee voted, and, so far as can be determined, one of the Democratic ballots upon which there was no vote for representative, may have been Mr. Lee's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the two Democratic ballots for French.

In the case of Mr. Lord, it appeared that he was married in East Kingston about eight years ago, to a young woman who lived there; that he is a man of dissolute habits, and was not liked by his wife's parents; that he voted in East Kingston from the time when he came and resided there, nearly eight years ago, until the last election, except at the last March meeting, when his name was left off because he was undergoing a sentence in the state prison. After his return in April, he went to work in East Kingston, and visited his wife every day or every few days at her home; that she did his washing and mended his clothing from that time on until now; that he came there every Sunday and changed his clothes, did something to support his wife and child, had meals there occasionally and remained over night. He claimed that was his home, and was never denied access to it by the owner of the house, the grandfather of his wife, who testified to the foregoing facts.

While Mr. Lord received assistance in marking his ballot, there is no evidence but what one of the two ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, on which there was no mark for representative, may have been cast by Mr. Lord. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that his vote was cast for Mr. Morrill.

It was objected that he was not sworn before voting. But, against the evidence of those who said they did not see him sworn, was the positive oath of the moderator and ballot clerk, that he did take the oath.

It also appeared in evidence that the night before election Mr. Lord went to the Republican headquarters, where the contestant and twelve others were in session, at half past ten o'clock, and stated that some one had agreed to get his name upon the check-list and that it had not been done. The contestant, Mr. French, also testified that on election day he met Mr. Lord alone, out of doors, back of the town hall, and that he asked him if he was not going to vote for him; that Lord replied that he thought he ought to but that he could not; that French replied he thought he ought to because he took him in to work when he came back from the state prison; that when he saw him go in to cast his vote he made up his mind he was a "goner," and that if he had voted for him (French) he "should have been willing to have had him do so."

Your committee regards it as a somewhat remarkable proposition for a contestant to ask that the sitting member be deprived of his seat, because an illegal vote was alleged to have been cast for him, when the contestant himself was seeking to have the same illegal vote cast for him, and would have regarded it as a legitimate transaction. And we cannot assent to the logic which would regard Mr. Lord as a legal voter up to the time when Mr. French sought his vote, and an illegal voter after he discovered he was a "goner."

In the case of Mr. Tilton, it appeared that he was born in East Kingston, has voted there at every election since he became twenty-one, to wit, sixteen years; that he never has moved from there; that four years ago he bought a livery stable in Exeter, which he kept for about eight months, in the meantime boarding in Exeter, with his wife and child, whom he took there to put into school; that after disposing of his livery, he purchased the furniture of a hotel and took a lease of it for his brother-in-law; that afterwards he was compelled to take it off his hands and finally dispose of it; that he left his entire household goods and his house completely furnished at East Kingston; that he moved nothing except a piano; that during the summer seasons, he with his family and friends occupied the house at East Kingston; that he had no purpose whatever of giving up his residence at East Kingston, and never in fact moved from there; that his name was on the posted list; that no objection was made to it before the board of supervisors, or in fact to any name that was put upon the list, and that his right to vote in East Kingston was beyond any sort of doubt or question.

There was no evidence as to how Mr. Tilton voted. So far as the committee can say, one of the four Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative may have been Mr. Tilton's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that he voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the Democratic ballots for Mr. French.

If Mr. Lord had not the right to vote for Mr. Morrill, but would have had the right to vote for Mr. French, then the state of the vote would be fifty-nine for Mr. Morrill, and fifty-eight for Mr. French, provided he did vote for Mr. Morrill, of which there was no evidence; and if he and Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, of which there is no evidence, and had not a right to vote, then the state of the vote would be fifty-eight for Mr. French, and fifty-eight for Mr. Morrill.

The undersigned, however, find that the votes of Mr. Lee and Mr. Lord and Mr. Tilton were legal and legally cast, and that upon the hypothesis that they all voted for Mr. Morrill, his vote was sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. Assuming that the votes of Mr. Lee, Mr. Lord, and Mr. Tilton were not legal, and in the absence of evidence that the blank Democratic ballots were not cast by them, or the two Democratic ballots for French were not cast by Lee and Tilton, and that they did in fact vote for Mr. Morrill, your committee are unable to see any possible ground upon which the right of the sitting member to a seat in this House can be contested. None of the votes above referred to were challenged or objected to, nor was any objection made to the declaration of the election of Mr. Morrill by any one when the votes were counted, Mr. French being present.

Upon the vote for moderator, there was a majority of twelve for the Democratic candidate, and the Democratic ticket was generally successful by about ten majority, and upon the whole case, and upon all the evidence presented, your committee respectfully report that the petition of the said Francis T. French should be denied, and that the sitting member, George F. Morrill, be declared to be rightfully entitled to his seat in this House.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Committee on Elections, to whom was submitted the remonstrance of Francis T. French and others, against the right of George F. Morrill of East Kingston to a seat in this House, having duly considered the same, and at considerable length, respectfully submit this their report in the following resolution :

Resolved, That Francis T. French is entitled to a seat in this House.

FRANK I. MORRILL,

For the Committee.

The following minority report accompanied the report of the majority of the committee :

The Committee on Elections, to whom was referred the petition of Francis T. French for a seat in this House, as representative of the town of East Kingston, having considered the same, respectfully submit the following report :

At the biennial election, held at East Kingston on the 8th day of November last, Francis T. French, the petitioner, received fifty-eight votes for representative, and George F. Morrill, the sitting member, fifty-nine, about which there was no dispute.

It is not disputed that there were sixteen Democratic votes cast where the voter received assistance from the election officers. Of these, twelve were assisted by Joseph G. Nelson, the Democratic clerk, and two by Joseph G. Nelson and William S. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were two marked by Joseph G. Nelson, upon which he also wrote the name of the person voting, to wit, Dana M. Fogg and John W. Nichols.

There were eight Republican votes cast where the voter was assisted by Mr. Titcomb, the Republican clerk. There were also two straight Democratic ballots in which French was voted for. There were seven votes cast on which there was no vote for representative. Of these, six were straight Democratic ballots, and one Republican. Of the six Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative, two were marked by Mr. Nelson.

One ballot was marked "defective," for register of deeds, representative to the General Court, and moderator, and was not counted by the election officers, and is not included in the fifty-nine votes cast for Mr. Morrill. This ballot was marked for the Democratic candidates throughout, but the voter, in making his cross for register of deeds, placed the cross in the space below the name of the Democratic candidate, and also in the space below the name of the representative to the General Court, Mr. Morrill. Mr. French's name was printed first on the ticket, as Republican candidate for representative, and Mr. Morrill's name was printed below. On the ballot in question the cross was made in the square immediately below Mr. Morrill's name and opposite the blank left in the ticket. Otherwise the ballot was a straight Democratic ticket; and, following the precedent established by the House in the case of Wadleigh v. Lovering, where a ballot containing a cross through "gh" in the name of Wadleigh was counted for him, and where another ballot in which the cross was in the square below Wadleigh's name was counted for him; and following the precedent in the case of Brown of Claremont, who was given a seat upon a ballot on which the mark was made immediately below his name, instead of opposite, the ballot in question should be counted for Mr. Morrill, and would make the number of votes received by him sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. If this vote should not be counted, upon the ground that the House should not go behind the official acts of the election officers, then the acts of the board of supervisors in putting the names of certain voters upon the lists, referred to hereafter, should not be disturbed or questioned.

The ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, upon which he placed the names of the voters, Fogg and Nichols, were objected to by the contestant at the hearing, upon the single ground that the voters did not take the oath before receiving assistance. But it appeared in the evidence, and it was not disputed, that before the voting commenced, an agreement was entered into between the Republican and Democratic election officers, that they would not require voters to take the oath because, as they said, they knew who would be unable to mark his ballot, and they would therefore dispense with the formalities of an oath. Under this agreement, Fogg and Nichols were allowed to vote without objection, and one or two other Democratic voters, but it appeared that as many, if not more, Republicans voted in the same way; so that there can be no just ground of complaint on either side. There was no dispute that both Fogg and Nichols required assistance, and had a right to receive it.

The only further objection made by the contestant was as to the right of A. Herbert Tilton, Frank W. Lee, and Fred Lord, to vote in East Kingston.

It appeared in the case of Mr. Lee, that he owned a place in East Kingston, which he bought over four years ago, and which he still owns; that he voted at the next election; that he lived upon the place nearly two years, working in Haverhill in the shoe-shop; that he moved his wife and little child to Milton Three-Ponds about a year and a half ago, for the purpose of putting his boy in the Nute high school; that he did so without intending or expecting to abandon East Kingston, but intending to return in the following September; that he did return during that month, and made repairs upon his house preparatory to moving into it; that he never voted elsewhere: is about to return to East Kingston with his family; that his absence was strictly temporary and for the purpose stated; that he appeared before the board of supervisors on Monday and made oath to the foregoing facts, and that no one objected to his right to vote until after this contest was made. There was no evidence before the committee as to how Mr. Lee voted, and, so far as can be determined, one of the Democratic ballots upon which there was no vote for representative, may have been Mr. Lee's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the two Democratic ballots for French.

In the case of Mr. Lord, it appeared that he was married in East Kingston about eight years ago, to a young woman who lived there; that he is a man of dissolute habits, and was not liked by his wife's parents; that he voted in East Kingston from the time when he came and resided there, nearly eight years ago, until the last election, except at the last March meeting, when his name was left off because he was undergoing a sentence in the state prison. After his return in April, he went to work in East Kingston, and visited his wife every day or every few days at her home; that she did his washing and mended his clothing from that time on until now; that he came there every Sunday and changed his clothes, did something to support his wife and child, had meals there occasionally and remained over night. He claimed that was his home, and was never denied access to it by the owner of the house, the grandfather of his wife, who testified to the foregoing facts.

While Mr. Lord received assistance in marking his ballot, there is no evidence but what one of the two ballots marked by Mr. Nelson, on which there was no mark for representative, may have been cast by Mr. Lord. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that his vote was cast for Mr. Morrill.

It was objected that he was not sworn before voting. But, against the evidence of those who said they did not see him sworn, was the positive oath of the moderator and ballot clerk, that he did take the oath.

It also appeared in evidence that the night before election Mr. Lord went to the Republican headquarters, where the contestant and twelve others were in session, at half past ten o'clock, and stated that some one had agreed to get his name upon the check-list and that it had not been done. The contestant, Mr. French, also testified that on election day he met Mr. Lord alone, out of doors, back of the town hall, and that he asked him if he was not going to vote for him; that Lord replied that he thought he ought to but that he could not; that French replied he thought he ought to because he took him in to work when he came back from the state prison; that when he saw him go in to cast his vote he made up his mind he was a "goner," and that if he had voted for him (French) he "should have been willing to have had him do so."

Your committee regards it as a somewhat remarkable proposition for a contestant to ask that the sitting member be deprived of his seat, because an illegal vote was alleged to have been cast for him, when the contestant himself was seeking to have the same illegal vote cast for him, and would have regarded it as a legitimate transaction. And we cannot assent to the logic which would regard Mr. Lord as a legal voter up to the time when Mr. French sought his vote, and an illegal voter after he discovered he was a "goner."

In the case of Mr. Tilton, it appeared that he was born in East Kingston, has voted there at every election since he became twenty-one, to wit, sixteen years; that he never has moved from there; that four years ago he bought a livery stable in Exeter, which he kept for about eight months, in the meantime boarding in Exeter, with his wife and child, whom he took there to put into school; that after disposing of his livery, he purchased the furniture of a hotel and took a lease of it for his brother-in-law; that afterwards he was compelled to take it off his hands and finally dispose of it; that he left his entire household goods and his house completely furnished at East Kingston; that he moved nothing except a piano; that during the summer seasons, he with his family and friends occupied the house at East Kingston; that he had no purpose whatever of giving up his residence at East Kingston, and never in fact moved from there; that his name was on the posted list; that no objection was made to it before the board of supervisors, or in fact to any name that was put upon the list, and that his right to vote in East Kingston was beyond any sort of doubt or question.

There was no evidence as to how Mr. Tilton voted. So far as the committee can say, one of the four Democratic ballots on which there was no vote for representative may have been Mr. Tilton's. In other words, it did not appear affirmatively that he voted for Mr. Morrill, or that he did not cast one of the Democratic ballots for Mr. French.

If Mr. Lord had not the right to vote for Mr. Morrill, but would have had the right to vote for Mr. French, then the state of the vote would be fifty-nine for Mr. Morrill, and fifty-eight for Mr. French, provided he did vote for Mr. Morrill, of which there was no evidence ; and if he and Mr. Lee voted for Mr. Morrill, of which there is no evidence, and had not a right to vote, then the state of the vote would be fifty-eight for Mr. French, and fifty-eight for Mr. Morrill.

The undersigned, however, find that the votes of Mr. Lee and Mr. Lord and Mr. Tilton were legal and legally cast, and that upon the hypothesis that they all voted for Mr. Morrill, his vote was sixty as against fifty-eight for Mr. French. Assuming that the votes of Mr. Lee, Mr. Lord, and Mr. Tilton were not legal, and in the absence of evidence that the blank Democratic ballots were not cast by them, or the two Democratic ballots for French were not cast by Lee and Tilton, and that they did in fact vote for Mr. Morrill, your committee are unable to see any possible ground upon which the right of the sitting member to a seat in this House can be contested. None of the votes above referred to were challenged or objected to, nor was any objection made to the declaration of the election of Mr. Morrill by any one when the votes were counted, Mr. French being present.

Upon the vote for moderator, there was a majority of twelve for the Democratic candidate, and the Democratic ticket was generally successful by about ten majority, and upon the whole case, and upon all the evidence presented, your committee respectfully report that the petition of the said Francis T. French should be denied, and that the sitting member, George F. Morrill, be declared to be rightfully entitled to his seat in this House.

The following entitled bill was then taken up for consideration :

An act in amendment of chapter 76 of the Public Statutes, relating to damages happening in the use of highways.

The question being upon the amendments proposed by the committee, as follows :

1st. Amend section 1, line four, by striking out the words "but upon no other portion of the highway."

2d. Amend by inserting a new section, numbered 2, as follows :

SECT. 2. Whenever any highway in any town shall be out of repair or unsafe for travel, any three citizens or tax-payers in the state may give notice of such insufficiency to one of the selectmen or road agents of the town, or the mayor or street commissioners of cities, and a copy of said notice, duly signed, setting forth in general terms the location of such highway, and the nature of such insufficiency ; and such town shall immediately thereafter cause to be placed proper danger signals to warn persons by day and night of such insufficiency, and shall within twenty-four hours thereafter commence repairing said highway, and continue such work in good faith and with reasonable dispatch until such highway is put in good and sufficient repair ; and the town shall be liable for all accidents that may happen at such place or places subsequent to the time said notice of said deficiency of said highway was given to said town, provided said town has not commenced to repair the same.

Also amend by inserting a new section, as follows :

SECT. 3. Said citizens or tax-payers, upon refusal of the proper authority to make such repairs, may file with one of the county commissioners for the county in which said highway or bridge is situated, a complaint in writing, setting forth in general terms the location of such highway or bridge and the nature of the insufficiency complained of, and stating that they have personally examined said highway or bridge, which complaint shall be signed and sworn to by said complainants, and have attached thereto a certificate of such oath. Whereupon the commissioners receiving said complaint shall forthwith notify one of the selectmen or road agents of said town, or the mayor or street commissioners of cities, and also one or more of the persons filing said complaint, of the time and place when and where said board of commissioners meet for the examination of such highway or bridge, and for hearing upon such complaint. In pursuance of such notice, said commissioners, or a majority of them, shall examine said highway or bridge, and hear all parties interested as to the condition of said highway or bridge, and the repairs necessary to make said highway or bridge safe and convenient for public travel, and the amount required for said repair. And if, after such examination and hearing, said commissioners shall be of the opinion that said highway or bridge is out of repair, or unsafe for travel, they shall determine what repairs, rebuilding, or new constructions are necessary, and shall fix the amount therefor; and they shall make a written report of their finding, which report shall contain a full description of the repairs or constructions by them determined upon, and a statement of the amount required therefor, and shall conclude with an order requiring said town to make such repairs or constructions within such reasonable time as they shall determine upon, which shall not exceed ten days, unless in the opinion of said commissioners it is impracticable to complete said work in that time. SECTION. 1. Section 2 of chapter 33 of the Public Statutes is hereby amended by striking out all of the section and substituting in the place thereof the following :

SECT. 2. Every ballot shall contain the names and residences of all candidates whose nominations for any offices specified in the ballot have been duly made in accordance with the provisions of this act, and shall contain no other name ; except that in case of electors of president and vice-president of the United States, the names of the candidates for president and vice-president shall be added. The names of the several candidates shall be printed in groups or separate tickets upon the ballot, according to the party appellations, and the several groups so printed shall be arranged at the discretion of the officer who prepares the ballots. Each ticket or group shall be printed entire upon one column of the ballot. There shall be at the extreme right of the inside of the ballot, as folded, one column that shall have printed upon it only the names of the offices to be filled, the spaces for the names of the candidates to be left blank.

There shall be straight and parallel black lines at right angles to the length of the ballot, separating the different offices one from another, and between the names of the offices to be filled and the candidates for those offices shall be lighter black lines, straight and parallel, at right angles to the length of the ballot. The names of the offices to be filled shall be printed in plain type of a different character from that of the names of the candidates that are printed upon the ballot. There shall be continuous heavy black lines lengthwise of the ballot between the groups of candidates or tickets. At the head of each group or ticket upon the ballot shall be printed in large plain type the party appellation. In case a nomination is made by a nomination paper, the words, "nomination paper," or "nom. paper," shall be added after the party appellation. The ballots shall be so printed as to give to each voter a clear opportunity to designate, by a cross mark (X) in a square at the right of the name of each candidate, his choice of candidates; and on the ballot may be printed such words as will aid the voter to do this, as "to vote the straight Republican ticket, make a cross (X) in every square at the right of the names in this column," and the like. Whenever the approval of a constitutional amendment or other question is submitted to the vote of the people, such question shall be printed once at the bottom of the ballot after the lists of candidates, and there shall be added after each question the words, "to vote 'yes,' make a cross (X) in this square ☐; to vote 'no,' make a cross (X) in this square ☐.

The ballots shall be of plain white paper, in weight not less than that of ordinary printing paper, and each column, of which there shall be four or more, shall be not more than five, nor less than four and a half, inches in width, and not less than six inches in length. There shall not be any impression or mark to distinguish one ballot from another. The names of candidates shall be printed with black ink at right angles with the length of the ballot, and in uniform type. The ballots shall be folded in marked creases lengthwise thereof. On the back and outside, when folded, shall be printed "Official Ballot for," followed by the designation of the polling place for which the ballot is prepared, the date of the election, and a fac simile of the signature of the officer who prepares the ballots, which fac simile shall at no election be a copy of that used at a former election, and shall not be made known prior to the day of election.

Section 23 of said chapter is hereby amended by striking out the words, "and the political appellation of the candidate of his choice for each office to be filled, except in case of electors of president and vice-president, one such mark being made opposite the group of his choice in the square provided in the margin for that purpose, or by filling in the name of the candidate of his choice in the blank space provided therefor, and making a cross (X) in the square opposite thereto," and substituting therefor the following words: of the candidate of his choice for each office to be filled, or by writing in the name of the candidate of his choice in the blank space provided therefor, and making a cross mark (X) in the square opposite thereto; so that said section shall read,—

SECT. 23. On receipt of his ballot, the voter shall forthwith, and without leaving the inclosed space, retire alone to one of the marking shelves or compartments, and shall prepare his ballot by marking in the appropriate square a cross (X) opposite and at the right of the name of the candidate of his choice for each office to be filled, or by writing in the name of the candidate of his choice in the blank space provided therefor, and making a cross mark (X) in the square opposite thereto, and in case of a question submitted to the vote of the people, by marking in the appropriate square a cross (X) against the answer which he desires to give. Before leaving the marking shelf or compartment, the voter shall fold his ballot, without displaying the marks thereon, in the same way it was folded when received by him. He shall immediately give his name in a loud and distinct tone of voice to the ward or town clerk, who shall likewise repeat the same and place a check mark against it on his check-list. The voter shall then forthwith deposit his ballot in the slot of the ballot-box with the official indorsement uppermost, and the conveying of the ballot into the ballot-box by means of the mechanism thereof shall constitute the receiving of the same by the moderator. He shall mark and deposit his ballot without undue delay, and shall quit said inclosed space as soon as he has voted. No such voter shall be allowed to occupy a marking shelf or compartment already occupied by another, nor to remain within said inclosed space more than ten minutes, nor to occupy a marking shelf or compartment for more than five minutes in case all of such shelves or compartments are in use and other voters are waiting to occupy the same. No voter, not an election officer, whose name has been checked on the list by the ballot clerks, shall be allowed to reënter said inclosed space during said election unless another balloting is had. It shall be the duty of the moderator to secure the observance of the provisions of this section and of other sections relative to the duties of election officers.

Every ballot shall contain the names and residence of all candidates whose nominations for any offices specified in the ballot have been duly made in accordance with the provisions of this act, and shall contain no other name; except that in case of elections of president and vice-president of the United States, the names of the candidates for president and vice-president shall be added. The names of the several candidates shall be printed in groups on separate tickets upon the ballot, according to the party appellations, and the several groups so printed shall be arranged at the discretion of the officer who prepares the ballot.

Each ticket or group shall be printed entire upon one column of the ballot.

There shall be at the extreme right of the inside of the ballot, as folded, one column that shall have printed upon it only the names of the offices to be filled,—the spaces for the names of the candidates to be left blank. There shall be straight and parallel black lines at right angles to the length of the ballot separating the different offices one from another, and between the names of the offices to be filled and the candidates for those offices shall be lighter black lines, straight and parallel at right angles to the length of the ballot.

The names of the offices to be filled shall be printed in plain type, of a different character from that of the names of the candidates that are printed upon the ballot. There shall be continuous heavy black lines lengthwise of the ballot between the groups of candidates or tickets. At the head of each group or ticket upon the ballot, shall be printed in large plain type the party appellation. In case a nomination is made by a nomination paper, the words "nomination paper" or "nom. paper," shall be added after the party appellation. The ballot shall be so printed as to give to each voter a clear opportunity to designate, by a cross mark in a square at the right of the name of each candidate, his choice of candidates; and on the ballot may be printed such words as will aid the voter to do this, as, "To vote the straight Republican ticket, make a cross in every square at the right of the names in this column," and the like.

Whenever the approval of a constitutional amendment or other question is submitted to the vote of the people, such questions shall be printed once at the bottom of the ballot after the lists of candidates, and there shall be added after each question the words "To vote yes, make a cross (X) in this square," "To vote no, make a cross (X) in this square."

The ballots shall be of plain white paper, in weight not less than that of ordinary printing paper, and each column,—of which there shall be four or more—shall not be more than five nor less than four and a half inches in width, and not less than six inches in length. There shall not be any impression or mark to distinguish one ballot from another. The names of candidates shall be printed with black ink, at right angles with the length of the ballot, and in uniform type. The ballots shall be folded in marked creases lengthwise thereof.

On the back and outside, when folded, shall be printed, "Official ballot for," followed by the designation of the polling place for which the ballot is prepared, the date of the election, and a fac simile of the signature of the officer who prepares the ballots, which fac simile shall at no election be a copy of that used at a former election, and shall not be made known prior to the day of election.

SECTION 2. Section 23 of said chapter is hereby amended by striking out the words "and the political appellation of the candidates of his choice for each office to be filled, except in the case of electors of president and vice-president, one such mark being made opposite the group of his choice in the square provided in the margin for that purpose, or by filling in the name of the candidate of his choice in the blank space provided therefor, and making a cross (X) in the square opposite thereto," and substituting therefor the following words: "of the candidate of his choice for each office to be filled, or by writing in the name of the candidate of his choice in the blank space provided therefor, and making a cross mark (X) in the square opposite thereto," so that said section shall read :

SECTION 23. On receipt of his ballot, the voter shall forthwith, and without leaving the inclosed space, retire alone to one of the marking shelves or compartments, and shall prepare his ballot by marking in the appropriate square, a cross (X) opposite and at the right of the name of the candidate of his choice, for each office to be filled, or by writing in the name of the candidate of his choice in the blank space provided therefor, and making a cross mark (X) in the square opposite thereto, and in case of a question submitted to the vote of the people, by making in the appropriate square a cross (X) against the answer which he desires to give. Before leaving the marking shelf or compartment, the voter shall fold his ballot, without displaying the marks thereon, in the same way it was folded when received by him. He shall immediately give his name in a loud and distinct tone of voice to the ward or town clerk, who shall likewise repeat the name and place a check mark against it on his check-list. The voter shall then forthwith deposit his ballot in the slot of the ballot-box, with the official indorsement uppermost, and the conveying of the ballot into the ballot-box by means of the mechanism thereof, shall constitute the receiving of the same by the moderator. He shall mark and deposit his ballot without undue delay, and shall quit said inclosed space as soon as he has voted. No such voter shall be allowed to occupy a marking shelf or compartment already occupied by another, nor to remain within said inclosed space more than ten minutes, nor to occupy a marking shelf or compartment for more than five minutes, in case all of such shelves or compartments are in use and other voters are waiting to occupy the same. No voter, not the ballot clerks, shall be allowed to reënter said inclosed space during said election, unless another balloting is had.
